Congress Universities Empire 1912 Proceedings:

Congress of the Universities of the Empire 1912 Report of Proceedings Edited by Alex Hill, M.A., M.D., F.R.C.S. Secretary to the Congress Congress of the Universities of the Empire, Alexander Hill, University of St. Andrews. Library. Anderson Collection, 1912      Congress of the Universities of the Empire, 1912 ,1912      Empire of scholars Tamson Pietsch, 2016-05-16 At the start of the twenty first century we are acutely conscious that universities operate within an entangled world of international scholarly connection Now available in paperback Empire of scholars examines the networks that linked academics across the colonial world in the age of Victorian globalization Stretching across the globe these networks helped map the boundaries of an expansive but exclusionary British academic world that extended beyond the borders of the British Isles Drawing on extensive archival research conducted in the United Kingdom Canada Australia New Zealand and South Africa this book remaps the intellectual geographies of Britain and its empire In doing so it provides a new context for writing the history of ideas and offers a critical analysis of the connections that helped fashion the global world of universities today      Report of Proceedings [of The] Congress of the Universities of the Empire, 1912 Alex Hill, 1912      Congress of the Universities of the Empire, 1912 Alex Hill, 2018-02-09 Excerpt from Congress of the Universities of the Empire 1912 Report of Proceedings IN November 1909 a resolution was adopted by the Senate of the University of London That it is desirable to hold an Imperial Universities Congress in London in The Imperial Education Conference was to meet in May of that year and it was thought that some of the representatives of Overseas Universities who would come to England for the purpose of attending this Conference would attend the Congress also A Preliminary Arrangements Committee was appointed to ascertain whether the proposal was viewed with favour by the Universities of the United Kingdom and if they approved to take steps to call the Congress into being The time for preparation involving as it must do communication with the most distant parts of the Empire was short and it was clearly necessary that invitations to attend the Congress should be sent out without delay For this reason the Principal of the University of London Dr now Sir Henry Miers Chairman of the Committee with whom the idea of summoning a Congress originated consulted the Vice Chancellors of Oxford and Cambridge without waiting until the proposal had been generally discussed With their concurrence a letter of invitation signed by the vice chancellor of the University of London was addressed to all other Universities of the United Kingdom The proposal for 3 Congress was unanimously approved and the invitation accepted by them all It soon appeared however that it would be wiser to postpone the meeting until 1912 With a view to saving time the Senate of the University of London had agreed to undertake all financial responsibility for the Congress leaving the question of the assistance which other Universities might be disposed to give to be settled later They had also appointed as Secretary the late Dr R D Roberts whose name had been independently suggested by the authorities both of Oxford and of Cambridge agreeing in order that he might devote himself to the work of organising the Congress to set him free in part from his duties

Education and Imperial Unity, 1901-1926
James G. Greenlee, 2016-11-18 Under the influence of mounting foreign competition in the late Victorian and Edwardian periods many Britons sought to bolster England's world position by reinforcing the unity of the Empire For the most part their effort were channelled into an attempt to construct a formal political union or federation of Britain's overseas dominions However when the so called Imperial Federation Movement failed to produce a viable constitutional solution the problem of unity a number of people began to search for an alternative non political approach In this connection a campaign was mounted during the first two decades of the twentieth century that came to emphasise the informal spiritual ties which supposedly bound the Empire together This title first published in 1987 brings to light the assumptions aspirations and schemes of those predominantly middle class figures who orchestrated the Imperial Studies Movement at the turn of the twentieth century This title will be of interest to students of history and education communities of universities Ashby Eric, 1988 JT Wilson and the Fraternity of Duckmaloi Patricia Morison, 2019-12-01 In the 1890s four young scientists at Sydney University two Scots a Londoner and an Australian began sustained research into Australian native fauna for which each was awarded the FRS They all went on to pursue notable careers in the biological sciences concluding in London 46 8 and Cambridge This book follows their careers and enduring friendship exploring in detail the life of its senior member J T Wilson 1861 1945 who was professor of anatomy at Sydney University 1890 1920 and Cambridge 1920 1933 and had abiding interests in science philosophy education and military affairs The narrative is mainly concerned with issues of historical interest to scientists and medical educationists though some like Empire relations and the contribution of Scots to Australia's development will interest a wider readership Many of the preoccupations of Wilson and his colleagues remain topical the debate between biological science and religion the struggle to interpret Darwin's theory without placing Homo sapiens at the top of an evolutionary tree pure versus applied science vocationalism versus scholarship in university education Bulletin - Bureau of Education United States.
