Critical Vehicles Writings Projects Interviews:

Critical Vehicles Krzysztof Wodiczko, 1999 Critical Vehicles is the first book in English to collect Wodiczko's own writings on his projects. Wodiczko has stated that his principal artistic concern is the displacement of traditional notions of community and identity in the face of rapidly expanding technologies and cultural miscommunication. In these writings he addresses such issues as urbanism, homelessness, immigration, alienation, and the plight of refugees. Fusing wit and sophisticated political insight, he offers the artistic means to help heal the damages of uprootedness and other contemporary troubles.

The Historical City. A Critical Reference and Role Model Ilaria Cattabriga, Enrico Chinellato, Arshia Eghbali, Zeno Mutton, Ramona Loffredo, 2024-12-18 This book offers a multivocal and interdisciplinary arena that brings together a wide range of thoughts and approaches addressing the intricacies of dealing with the historical city today. Spanning across a multitude of humanistic, sociological, and technological outlooks, it provides a multifaceted overview of current research on the city and its historicity. Based on revised and extended contributions presented at two international conferences, namely The Historical City as a Critical Reference and Role Model for Innovative Urban and Metropolitan Development (January 26-27, 2023) and The Historical City as a Field for Critical Exercise: Criticism, Politics, Actors (April 17, 2023), both held at the University of Bologna, this book is an insightful and thought-provoking read for researchers in Architecture, History, Urban Studies, Social Sciences, and the Arts, as well as professionals and policy makers dealing with historical cities.

On the Camera Arts and Consecutive Matters Hollis Frampton, 2015-01-30 The collected writings of artist and filmmaker Hollis Frampton, including all the essays from the long unavailable Circles of Confusion along with rare additional material. As Hollis Frampton's photographs and celebrated experimental films were testing the boundaries of the camera arts in the 1960s and 1970s, his provocative and highly literate writings were attempting to establish an intellectually resonant form of discourse for these critically underexplored fields. It was a time when artists working in diverse disciplines were beginning to pick up cameras and produce films and videotapes well before these practices were understood or embraced by institutions of contemporary art. This collection of Frampton's writings presents his critical essays, many written for Artforum and October, along with additional material including lectures, correspondence, interviews, and production notes and scripts. It replaces and supersedes the long unavailable Circles of Confusion, published in 1983. Frampton ranged widely over the visual arts in his writing, and the texts in this collection display his unique approaches to photography, film, and video, as well as the plastic and literary arts. They include critically acclaimed essays on Edward Weston and Eadweard Muybridge, as well as appraisals of contemporary photographers, the influential essay For a Metahistory of Film, along with scripts, textual material, and scores for his films, writings on video that constitute a prehistory of the digital arts, a dialogue with Carl Andre, his friend and former Phillips Andover classmate from the early 1960s, and two inventive, almost unclassifiable pieces that are reminiscent of Borges, Joyce, and Beckett.

Digital Currents Margot Lovejoy, 2004-08-02 Digital Currents explores the growing impact of digital technologies on aesthetic experience and examines the major changes taking place in the role of the artist as social communicator Margot Lovejoy recounts the early histories of electronic media for art making video computer the internet in this richly illustrated book She provides a context for the works of major artists in each media describes their projects and discusses the issues and theoretical implications of each to create a foundation for understanding this developing field Digital Currents fills a major gap in our understanding of the relationship between art and technology and the exciting new cultural conditions we are experiencing It will be ideal reading for students taking courses in digital art and also for anyone seeking to understand these new creative forms

Innovation in Social Welfare and Human Services Rolf Rønning, Marcus Knutagard, 2015-02-11 Innovation is an oft heard buzzword in both public and private sectors concerned with the organisation and delivery of services to vulnerable individuals This thoughtful volume explores what innovation might actually involve in the context of contemporary human services Highlighting both the importance and utility of innovation but also promoting a more reflective approach the book distinguishes between innovation and improvement and discusses the relevant differences between private sector public sector and non profit organisations It looks at how innovation is often as much a result of the power relations between the involved actors and the structural context as a result of popularly identified drivers and barriers Including numerous case studies the book illustrates and explains innovations in welfare services at different levels looking at the macro level innovations in social policy the meso level innovation at organisational level and the micro level user driven innovations Arguing the innovation is nothing new in human services the authors emphasise the importance of innovation being developed and supported by those working within those organisations New and creative solutions to problems encountered in everyday work by front line workers can be taken up to improve services provided and make a difference for the users rather than change being externally imposed upon them by those without insider knowledge Innovation in Social Welfare and Human Services is an important read for researchers and practitioners interested in the administration leadership and organisation of social services
