Fair Labelling and the Dilemma of Prosecuting Gender-Based Crimes at the International Criminal Tribunals

Hilmi M. Zawati, Hilmi Zawati, 2015-11 This scholarly legal work focuses on the dilemma of prosecuting gender based crimes under the statutes of the international criminal tribunals with reference to the principle of fair labelling In this book Hilmi M Zawati explains how the abstractness and lack of accurate description of gender based crimes in the statutory laws of the international criminal tribunals and courts infringe the principle of fair labelling lead to inconsistent verdicts and punishments and cause inadequate prosecution of these crimes This inquiry deals with gender based crimes as a case study and with fair labelling as a legal principle and a theoretical framework Critical and timely this study contributes to existing scholarship in many different ways It is the first legal analysis to focus on the dilemma of prosecuting and punishing wartime gender based crimes in the statutory laws of the international criminal tribunals and the ICC in the context of fair labelling Moreover it emphasizes that applying fair labelling to wartime gender based crimes would enable the tribunals and the ICC to deliver fair judgments eliminate inconsistent prosecution overcome shortcomings in addressing gender based crimes within their jurisprudence while breaking the cycle of impunity for these crimes Consisting of two parts this work begins by outlining the central focus and theoretical legal framework of the study It concentrates on fair labelling as an imperative legal principle and a legal framework examines its intellectual development scope and justification and illustrates its applicability to gender based crimes The second part addresses the dilemma of prosecuting gender based crimes in the international criminal tribunals

The Justice Dilemma Daniel Krmaric, 2020-09-15 Abusive leaders are now held accountable for their crimes in a way that was unimaginable just a few decades ago What are the consequences of this recent push for international justice In The Justice Dilemma Daniel Krmaric explains why the golden parachute of exile is no longer an attractive retirement option for oppressive rulers He argues that this is both a blessing and a curse leaders culpable for atrocity crimes fight longer civil wars because they lack good exit options but the threat of international prosecution deters some leaders from committing atrocities in the first place The Justice Dilemma therefore diagnoses an inherent tension between conflict resolution and atrocity prevention two of the signature goals of the international community Krmaric also sheds light on several important puzzles in world politics Why do some rulers choose to fight until they are killed or captured Why not simply save oneself by going into exile Why do some civil conflicts last so much longer than others Why has state sponsored violence against civilians fallen in recent years While exploring these questions Krmaric marshals statistical evidence on patterns of exile civil war duration and mass atrocity onset He also reconstructs the decision making processes of embattled leaders including Muammar Gaddafi of Libya Charles Taylor of Liberia and Blaise Compaoré of Burkina Faso to show how contemporary international justice both deters atrocities and prolongs conflicts Militancy and Violence in West Africa James Gow, Funmi Olonisakin, Ernst Dijkhoorn, 2013-07-18 This volume provides a systematic and cross regional analysis of radicalisation militancy and violence in West Africa Concern about terrorism in or from West Africa has been recognised in academic research and the adoption of militarised approaches to addressing it questioned However the basis for that questioning the need to investigate factors such as the historical and socio economic roots of militancy is not developed nor is it substantiated in existing studies The significant impact of religiously motivated radicalisation and violence in West Africa upon international security makes it essential to understand the issues of militancy and violence in the region In this volume the authors draw upon empirical research in West Africa to develop understanding in these areas Over the course of several chapters written by leading experts in the field the book successfully blends historical and conceptual analysis with new empirical research gathered from focus group discussions and research interviews Each of these core studies is structured around five interrelated issues tracing the antecedents of radicalisation monitoring trends identifying actors anticipating possibilities and analysing the strength of existing preventive mechanisms This book will be of much interest to students of African security African politics radicalisation political Islam war and conflict studies and security studies in general War Economies in a Regional Context Michael Charles Pugh, Neil Cooper, Jonathan Goodhand, 2004 This book emphasizes the role of economic factors in the conditions that lead to state collapse give rise to and sustain conflict and complicate peacebuilding The book argues that existing state level focus tends to ignore the role of regional linkages in permitting and sustaining conflict and as obstacles to transformation Furthermore that the focus on the dynamics of conflict in states of the developing world tends to artificially distance the outside predominantly Western world from their genesis and evolution taken from introduction I William Zartman: A Pioneer in Conflict Management and Area Studies I. William Zartman, 2019-05-13 The work draws on wide ranging area analysis to develop inductively new concepts and approaches for further use in explanation and application Divided into two parts it begins with analysis of revolution and socio political unrest followed by models of ethnic conflict and elite circulation in developing societies It presents the cultural dialectic present in Islam It then lays out the patterns of mediation and negotiation in managing and resolving conflict culminating with an analysis of intractables Part two on governance lays out the nature of world order cooperation and conciliation It then turns to the challenges of identity ideology and interest with some specific attention to the nature of borders and borderlands and focuses on governance as conflict management and as negotiation This book encompasses a new analysis of a neglected part of International Relation the prevention and management of conflict The book confronts sources and patterns of contentious politics with systems and methods of governance The book lays out a comprehensive conceptualization of the process of conflict management and negotiation including questions of when as well as how

Routledge Handbook of International Criminology Cindy J. Smith,Sheldon X. Zhang,Rosemary Barberet,2011-05-03 The Routledge Handbook of International Criminology brings together the latest thinking and findings from a diverse group of both senior and promising young scholars from around the globe This collaborative project articulates a new way of thinking about criminology that extends existing perspectives in understanding crime and social control across borders jurisdictions and cultures and facilitates the development of an overarching framework that is truly international The book is divided into three parts in which three distinct yet overlapping types of crime are analyzed international crime transnational crime and national crime Each of these perspectives is then articulated through a number of chapters which cover theory and methods international and transnational crime analyses and case studies of criminology and criminal justice in relevant nations In addition questions placed at the end of each chapter encourage greater reflection on the issues raised and will encourage young scholars to move the field of inquiry forward This handbook is an excellent reference tool for undergraduate and graduate students with particular interests in research methods international criminology and making comparisons across countries

Gender and the Political Economy of Conflict in Africa Meredeth Turshen,2016-01-29 Violence affects the economy of production and the ecology of reproduction the production of economic goods and services and the generational reproduction of workers the regeneration of the capacity to work and maintenance of workers on a daily basis and the renewal of culture and society through community relations and the education of children Gender and the Political Economy of Conflict in Africa explores the persistence of violence in conflict zones in Africa using a political economy framework. This framework employs an analysis of violence on both edges of the spectrum: a macro economic analysis of violence against workers and a micro political analysis of the violence in women's reproductive lives. These analyses come together to create a new explanation of why violence persists, a new political economy of violence against women, and a new theoretical understanding of the relation between production and reproduction. Three case studies are discussed: the Democratic Republic of the Congo, violence in an era of conflict; Sierra Leone, violence post conflict; and Tanzania, which has not seen armed conflict on the mainland. This book fills a significant gap on the political economy of war and women, gender, for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as researchers in African Studies, Gender Studies, and Peace and Conflict Studies.
