Deficits And Desires Economics And Sexuality In Twentieth Century Literature:

Deficits and Desires Michael Tratner, 2002-03-01 This book examines the effects on literary works of a little noted economic development in the early twentieth century individuals and governments alike began to regard going into debt as a normal and even valuable part of life The author also shows surprisingly that the economic changes normalizing debt paralleled and intersected with changes in sexual discourse In Victorian novels sex and debt are considered dangerous activities that the young should avoid in order to save and invest toward eventual marriage and a home In twentieth century texts however it often seems acceptable to go into debt and engage in sex before marriage These literary representations followed social transformations as both economic and sexual discourse moved from the logic of saving and production to the logic of circulation In Keynesian economics and consumerism governments and individuals were actually encouraged to borrow and to spend more in order to increase demand and keep money circulating In twentieth century sexual treatises people were similarly encouraged to indulge their desires as pent up states were considered as deleterious to the physical body as they were to the economic In this book the author traces these social transformations by examining twentieth century literary works and films that are structured around contrasts between repressive and expansive forms of economics and sexuality He studies a range of authors including James Joyce F Scott Fitzgerald Virginia Woolf Ezra Pound Zora Neale Hurston and Frank Capra The book ends with the 1960s because after that decade deficits no longer seemed the cure for anything and the advocacy of sexual indulgence dwindled For half a century however the intersections of sexual and economic discourses created a sense that society was on the verge of a vast transformation The artists studied in this book were fascinated by such a prospect but remained ambivalent as it seemed that their dreams of escaping dull bourgeois life and ending repression were becoming true because of the influence of the crassest economic policies Modernism and

Popular Music Ronald Schleifer, 2011-05-26 Traditionally ideas about twentieth century modernism whether focused on literature music or the visual arts have made a distinction between high art and the popular arts of best selling fiction jazz and other forms of popular music and commercial art of one form or another In Modernism and Popular Music Ronald Schleifer instead shows how the music of George and Ira Gershwin Cole Porter Thomas Fats Waller and Billie Holiday can be considered as artistic expressions equal to those of the traditional high art practices in music and literature Combining detailed attention to the language and aesthetics of popular music with an examination of its early twentieth century performance and dissemination through the new technologies of the radio and phonograph Schleifer explores the popularity of popular music in order to reconsider received and seeming self evident truths about the differences between high art and popular art and indeed about twentieth century modernism altogether Virginia Woolf in Context Bryony Randall, Jane

Goldman, 2012-12-17 Covering a wide range of historical theoretical critical and cultural contexts this collection studies key issues in contemporary Woolf studies Incredible Modernism John Attridge, 2016-05-23 With the twentieth century came a new awareness of just how much an individual was obliged to accept on trust and this heightened awareness of social trust in turn prompted new kinds of anxiety about fraudulence and deception Beginning with the premise that the traditional liberal concept of trust as a bond of society entered a period of crisis around the turn of the twentieth century this collection examines the profound influence of this shift on a wide range of modernist writers including James Joyce Marcel Proust Gertrude Stein Ezra Pound Wyndham Lewis H D Ford Madox Ford Samuel Beckett Ralph Ellison and Wallace Stevens In examining the importance of trust and fraudulence during the period the contributors take up a diverse set of topics related to reception the institutions of modernism the history of authorship the nature of representation authenticity genre social order and politics Taken as a whole Incredible Modernism provides concrete historical coordinates for the study of twentieth century trust while also arguing that a problem of trust is central to the institutions and formal innovations of modernism itself

American Literature and the Free Market, 1945-2000 Michael W. Clune, 2010 This book considers the fascination with the free market and the economic world evident within postwar literature

Political Economy and the Novel Sarah Comyn, 2018-10-04 Political Economy and the Novel A Literary History of Homo Economicus provides a transhistorical account of homo economicus economic man demonstrating this figure's significance to economic theory and the Anglo American novel over a 250 year period Beginning with Adam Smith's seminal texts Theory of Moral Sentiments and The Wealth of Nations and Henry Fielding's A History of Tom Jones this book combines the methodologies of new historicism and new economic criticism to investigate the evolution of the homo economicus model as it traverses through Ricardian economics and Jane Austen's Sanditon J S Mill and Charles Dickens engagement with mid Victorian dualities Keynesianism and Mrs Dalloway's exploration of post war consumer impulses the a moralistic discourses of Friedrich von Hayek and Ayn Rand's Atlas Shrugged and finally the virtual crises of the twenty first century financial market and DonDeLillo's Cosmopolis Through its sustained comparative analysis of literary and economic discourses this book transforms our understanding of the genre of the novel and offers critical new understandings of literary value cultural capital and the moral foundations of political economy

Consumer Culture and Personal Finance J. Botterill, 2010-01-20 This book explores the personal savings and credit discourses surrounding post war British consumer culture This cultural history highlights the contradictory meanings of home ownership domesticity women's consumerism and banking deregulation that underwrote unprecedented financial crisis and consumer indebtedness

Chinese Modernity and Global Biopolitics Sheldon H. Lu, 2007-05-31 This ambitious work is a multimedia interdisciplinary study of Chinese modernity in the context of globalization from the late nineteenth century to the present Sheldon Lu draws on Chinese literature film art photography and video to broadly map the emergence of modern China in relation to the capitalist world system in the economic social and political realms Central to his study is the investigation of biopower and body politics namely the experience of globalization on a personal level Lu first outlines the trajectory of the body in modern Chinese literature by focusing on the adventures pleasures and sufferings of the male and female body in the writings of selected authors He then turns to avant garde and performance art tackling the physical self more directly through a consideration of work that takes the body as its very theme material and medium In an exploration of mass visual culture Lu analyzes artistic reactions to the multiple uneven effects of globalization and modernization on both the physical landscape of China and the interior psyche of its citizens This is followed by an inquiry into contemporary Chinese urban space in popular cinema and experimental photography and art Examples are offered that capture the daily lives of contemporary Chinese as they struggle to make the transition from the vanishing space of the socialist lifestyle to the new capitalist economy of commodities Lu reexamines the history and implications of China's belated integration into the capitalist world system before closing with a postscript that traces the genealogy of the term postsocialism and points to the real relevance of the idea for the investigation of everyday life in China in the twenty first century

Modernist Poetics in China Tiao Wang, Ronald Schleifer, 2022-09-01 This book examines organizations of consumerist economics which developed at the turn of the twentieth century in the West and at the turn of the twenty first century in China in relation to modernist poetics Consumerist economics include the artificial person of the corporation the vertical integration of production and consumption based upon desire as well as necessity This book assumes that poetics can be understood as a theory in practice of how a world works Tracing the relation of economics to poetics the book analyzes the impersonality of indirect discourse in Qian Zhongshu and James Joyce the impressionist discourses of Mang Ke and Ezra Pound and discursive difficulty in Mo Yan and William Faulkner Bringing together two notably distinct cultures and traditions this book allows us to comprehend modernism as a theory in practice of lived experience in cultures organized around consumption

Love and Money Michael Tratner, 2021-02-25 When people speak about love and money they usually are referring to a conflict love distorted by the desire for money Such statements imply that love has a distinct form before economics interferes but this book aims to show that such a view simplifies what is going on because people have always been deeply shaped by everything in the social order including economics So when people say that money is distorting love what they are really saying is that the current relationship of love and economics is different from an earlier relationship This book seeks then to demonstrate the intertwining of the discourses of love and money over a long history by focusing on moments when parallel conceptions appear in economic theories and love stories The two discourses intersect because both seek to define qualities and behaviors of human beings which are most valuable and hence most desirable Similar descriptions of valuable behaviors appear at roughly the same time in economic theories of how to acquire wealth and literary stories of how to find ideal lovers By tracking mutual expressions of desire value and acquisition in economics and love stories this book argues for the ubiquity of the intertwining of these discourses while exploring shifts in conceptions of value It focuses on four eras when economic and romantic conceptions of what is most desirable were actively changing in English discourses the early modern 17th century the Victorian 19th the modernist 20th and the postmodern present
