Antarctica in British Children's Literature Sinead Moriarty, 2020-11-29 For over a century British authors have been writing about the Antarctic for child readers yet this body of literature has never been explored in detail

Antarctica in British Children's Literature examines this field for the first time identifying the dominant genres and recurrent themes and tropes while interrogating how this landscape has been constructed as a wilderness within British literature for children The text is divided into two sections Part I focuses on the stories of early twentieth century explorers such as Robert F Scott and Ernest Shackleton Antarctica in British Children's Literature highlights the impact of children's literature on the expedition writings of Robert Scott including the influence of Scott's close friend author J M Barrie The text also reveals the important role of children's literature in the contemporary resurgence of interest in Scott's long term rival Ernest Shackleton Part II focuses on fictional narratives set in the Antarctic including early twentieth century whaling literature adventure and fantasy texts contemporary animal stories and environmental texts for children Together these two sections provide an insight into how depictions of this unique continent have changed over the past century reflecting transformations in attitudes towards wilderness and wild landscapes

The Palgrave Handbook of Children's Film and Television Casie Hermansson, Janet Zepernick, 2019-05-28 This volume explores film and television for children and youth While children's film and television vary in form and content from country to country their youth audience ranging from infants to screenagers is the defining feature of the genre and is written into the DNA of the medium itself This collection offers a contemporary analysis of film and television designed for this important audience with particular attention to new directions evident in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries With examples drawn from Iran China Korea India Israel Eastern Europe the Philippines and France as well as from the United States and the United Kingdom contributors address a variety of issues ranging from content to production distribution marketing and the use of film both as object and medium in education Through a diverse consideration of media for young infants up to young adults this volume reveals the newest trends in children's film and television and its role as both a source of entertainment and pedagogy

Children's Books on the Big Screen Meghann Meeusen, 2020-06-04 In Children's Books on the Big Screen Meghann Meeusen goes beyond the traditional adaptation approach of comparing and contrasting the similarities of film and book versions of a text By tracing a pattern across films for young viewers Meeusen proposes that a consistent trend can be found in movies adapted from children's and young adult books that representations of binaries such as male/female, self/other and adult/child become more strongly contrasted and more diametrically opposed in the film versions The book describes this as binary polarization suggesting that starker opposition between concepts leads to shifts in the messages that texts send particularly when it comes to representations of gender, race and childhood After introducing why critics need a new way of thinking about children's adapted texts Children's Books on the Big Screen uses middle grade fantasy adaptations to explore the reason for binary polarization and looks at the results of polarized binaries in adolescent films and movies adapted from picture books Meeusen also digs into instances when multiple films are adapted from a single source such as The Wonderful Wizard of Oz and ends with pragmatic classroom application suggesting teachers might utilize this theory to help students think critically about movies created by the Walt Disney corporation Drawing from numerous popular contemporary examples Children's Books on the Big Screen posits a theory that can begin to explain what happens and what is at stake when children's and young adult books are made into movies

Posthumanism in Young Adult Fiction Anita Tarr, Donna R. White, 2018-04-27

Contributions by Torsten Caeners, Phoebe Chen, Mathieu Donner, Shannon Hervey, Angela S. Insenga, Patricia Kennon, Maryna Matlock, Ferne Merrylees, Lars Schmeink, Anita Tarr, Tony M. Vinci and Donna R. White For centuries humanism has provided a paradigm for what it means to be human: a rational, unique, unified, universal, autonomous being Recently, however, a new philosophical approach, posthumanism, has questioned these assumptions, asserting that being human is not a fixed state but one always dynamic and evolving Restrictive boundaries are no longer in play and we do not define who we are by delineating what we are not: animal, machine, monster There is no one aspect that makes a being human: self-awareness, emotion, artistic expression, or problem solving since human characteristics reside in other species along with shared DNA Instead, posthumanism looks at the ways our bodies, intelligence, and behavior connect and interact with the environment, technology, and other species In Posthumanism in Young Adult Fiction: Finding Humanity in a Posthuman World, editors Anita Tarr and Donna R. White collect twelve essays that explore this new discipline's relevance in young adult literature Adolescents often tangle with many issues raised by posthumanist theory, such as body issues The in-betweenness of adolescence makes stories for young adults ripe for posthumanist study Contributors to the volume explore ideas of posthumanism including democratization of power, body enhancements, hybridity, multiplicity, plurality, and the environment by analyzing recent works for young adults including award winners like Paolo Bacigalupi's Ship Breaker and Nancy Farmer's The House of the Scorpion, as well as the works of Octavia Butler and China Miéville

Edinburgh Companion to

Children's Literature Clementine Beauvais, 2018-02-16 Introduces you to the promises and problems of Charles Taylor's thought in major contemporary debates Adaptation in Young Adult Novels Dana E. Lawrence, Amy L. Montz, 2020-09-03

Adaptation in Young Adult Novels argues that adapting classic and canonical literature and historical places engages young adult readers with their cultural past and encourages them to see how that past can be rewritten. The textual afterlives of classic texts raise questions for new readers: What can be changed? What benefits from change? How can you too be agents of change? The contributors to this volume draw on a wide range of contemporary novels from Rick Riordan's Percy Jackson series and Megan Shepherd's Madman's Daughter trilogy to Jesmyn Ward's Salvage the Bones adapted from mythology, fairy tales, historical places, and the literary classics of Shakespeare, Charles Dickens, Jane Austen, and F. Scott Fitzgerald among others. Unpacking the new perspectives and critiques of gender, sexuality, and the cultural values of adolescents inherent to each adaptation, the essays in this volume make the case that literary adaptations are just as valuable as original works and demonstrate how the texts studied empower young readers to become more culturally, historically, and socially aware through the lens of literary diversity.

Where is Adaptation? Casie Hermansson, Janet Zepernick, 2018-10-15

Where is Adaptation? Mapping cultures, texts, and contexts explores the vast terrain of contemporary adaptation studies and offers a wide variety of answers to the title question in 24 chapters by 29 international practitioners and scholars of adaptation, both eminent and emerging. From insightful self-analyses by practitioners—a novelist, a film director, a comics artist—to analyses of adaptations of place, culture, and identity, the authors brought together in this collection represent a broad cross-section of current work in adaptation studies. From the development of technologies impacting film festivals to the symbiotic potential of interweaving disability and adaptation studies, censorship, exploring the global and an examination of the Association for Adaptation Studies at its 10th anniversary, the original contributions in this volume aim to trace the leading edges of this evolving field.

Shakespearean Spaces in Australian Literary Adaptations for Children and Young Adults Michael Marokakis, 2022-07-29

Shakespearean Spaces in Australian Literary Adaptations for Children and Young Adults offers a comprehensive examination of Shakespearean adaptations written by Australian authors for children and Young Adults. The 20-year period crossing the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries came to represent a diverse and productive era of adapting Shakespeare in Australian literature. As an analysis of Australian and international marketplaces, physical and imaginative spaces, and the body as a site of meaning, this book reveals how the texts are ideologically bound to and disseminate Shakespearean cultural capital in contemporary ways. Combining current research in children's literature and Bourdieu's theory of cultural capital, it deepens the critical awareness of the status of Australian literature while illuminating a corpus of literature underrepresented by the pre-existing concentration on adaptations from other parts of the world. Of particular interest is how these adaptations merge Shakespearean worlds with the spaces inhabited by young people, such as the classroom, the stage, the imagination, and the gendered body. The readership of this book would be academics, researchers, and students of children's literature studies and Shakespeare studies, particularly those interested in Shakespearean cultural theory, transnational adaptation, and literary appropriation. High school educators and pre-service teachers would also find this book valuable as they look to broaden and strengthen their use of adaptations to engage students in Shakespeare studies
