

Fig 3. Deployment sequence of NASA's STAC-BEAM geometry model.

The team aims to define a morphological design method that can generate deployable structures based on crystallographic symmetry and on variants of three NASA structures, the PACTRUSS, the X-BEAM and the STAC-BEAM. The latter two are used as extendable support structures for platforms such as solar concentrators and phased arrays. In order to define their structural morphology the team develops a four-letter notation (t, b, v, d) that corresponds to the four structural component groups of a cubic cell. The first letter (t) corresponds to the top horizontal members, the second (b) to the bottom horizontal members, the third (v) to the vertical members and the fourth (d) to the diagonal members.

The notation then describes whether the member is rigid (r) or hinged (h). The morphological notation for the PACTRUSS seen in figure 1 is (h, h, r, h) (representing hinged top members, hinged bottom members, rigid vertical members and hinged diagonal members).
