Civitas The Harvard Architecture Review:

Civitas/What is City? Theresa Genovese, Linda Eastley, Deanna Snyder, 1998 What constitutes a city How does human settlement in a specific site create a civilization Civitas the latest issue of the Harvard Architectural Review presents a series of provocative responses to these questions Architects critics educators and planners investigate the conflict between contemporary constructs of human settlement and more traditional definitions of cities Through a combination of projects and theoretical essays Civitas aims to provide a more diverse understanding of the nature of urbanism and community The conception of community as an orderly or focused environment in the landscape is an expression predominantly derived from the Western medieval city and perception This idea has been copied transformed and even romanticized but today its structure is no longer the image that dominates the landscape from the introduction to Civitas

Facilitating Watershed Management Robert L. France, 2005 Facilitating Watershed Management brings together myriad distinctive voices to create an experiential learning process drawn from the most important innovators in the field Presenting an introduction to the diversity of tools sociological pedagogical phenomenological needed to implement watershed management in the real world trenches the book helps move students and practitioners from being knowledgeable stewards of watersheds to becoming wise managers of watersheds

Making the Metropolitan Landscape Jacqueline Tatom, Jennifer Stauber, 2009-05-07 Bringing together for the first time many well known and emerging voices in urban design theory and practice this volume argues for a progressive and engaged design practice which fully relates to the complexity and diversity of American cities

The Seduction of Place Joseph Rykwert, 2013-11-06 No other place on earth is as full both of promise and of dread as the city it is at once alienating and exciting These concentrations of people have not however come about as the result of vast immutable impersonal forces but because of human choices The worsening or betterment of urban life will also be the result of choices Our choices That cities display and represent the personal desires of their inhabitants is central to Joseph Rykwert's argument in The Seduction of Place Insisting that they are the physical constructs of communities he travels through history to trace their roots in ancient times and outlines current attempts and future possibilities to improve the metropolis Rykwert includes a broad range of urban landscapes 18th and 19th century Paris and London the current sprawl of Mexico City and Cairo planned cities like Brasilia and finally New York the world capital Always opinionated and often controversial Rykwert assesses how and why urban projects from the past succeeded or failed and what lessons can be drawn from them for the future Ultimately The Seduction of Place is a deeply felt and powerfully reasoned call for a commitment by every citizen to the creation of a more humane place to live

Urbicide Fernando Carrión Mena, Paulina Cepeda Pico, 2023-03-23 This book uses the reflection of academics specialized in the urban area of Latin America Europe and the United States to initiate a comparative debate of the different dynamics in which Urbicidio expresses itself The field or focal point of analysis that this publication approaches is the city but under a new critical perspective of inverse methodology to that has been traditional used It is about understanding the structural causes of self destruction to finally thinking better and then going from pessimism to optimism It is a deep look at the city from an unconventional entrance because it is about knowing and analyzing what the city loses by the action deployed by own urbanites both in the field of its production and in the field of its consumption This suppose that the city does not have an ascending linear sequential evolution in its development but neither in each of its parts in the improvement process showing the face that commonly not seen but others live The category used for this purpose is that of Urbicidio or the death of the city which contributes theoretically and methodologically to the knowledge of the city as well as to the design of urban policies that neutralize it In addition it is worth mentioning that the book has an inclusive view of the authors For this reason gender parity territorial representation and the presence of age groups have been sought

The City Makers of Nairobi Anders Ese, Kristin Ese, 2020-07-21 The City Makers of Nairobi re examines the history of the urban development of Nairobi in the colonial period Although Nairobi was a colonial construct with lasting negative repercussions the African population s impact on its history and development is often overlooked This book shows how Africans took an active part in making use of the city and creating it and how they were far from being subjects in the development of a European colonial city This re interpretation of Nairobi s history suggests that the post colonial city is the result of more than unjust and segregative colonial planning Merging historical documentation with extensive contemporary urban theory this book provides in depth knowledge of the key historical roles played by locals in the development of their city It argues that the idea of agency a popular inroad to urban development today is not a current phenomenon but one that has always existed with its many social spatial and physical ramifications This is an ideal read for upper level undergraduate and graduate students studying the history of urban development and theories providing an in depth case study for reference The City Makers of Nairobi broaches interdisciplinary themes important to urban planners social scientists historians and those working with popular settlements in cities across the world

Beyond the Edge Raymond Gastil, 2002-10-25 Through an insightful look at projects from around the world and at the current design proposals for New York itself the author paints a portrait of redevelopment that is both pragmatic and visionary one that holds the promise of reconnecting New Yorkers to their waterfront as a vital place of work and of public life

Cultural Planning Graeme Evans, 2002-09-26 Using an historic and contemporary analysis Cultural Planning examines how and why the cultures have been planned and the extent to which cultural amenities have been considered in town planning From its ancient roots in the cities of classical Athenian Roman and Byzantium empires to the European Renaissance public culture shows both an historic continuity and contemporary response to economic and social change Whilst the arts are considered an extension of welfare provision and human rights the creative industries and cultural tourism are also vital for economic growth and employment in the post industrial age However the new Grand Projects which look to the arts as an element of urban regeneration tend to be at the cost of both local cultural amenities and a culturally diverse society Cultural Planning is the first book on the planning of the arts and culture and the interaction between the state arts policy the cultural economy and town and city planning It uses case studies and examples from Europe North America and Asia The book calls for the adoption of consultative planning policy distributive models and a more integrated approach to both culture and urban design to prevent the reinforcement of existing geographical and cultural divides

Crossing Great Divides John D. Fairfield,2024-06-28 Argues that the habit of thinking of the city and the country as opposites is at the root of our environmental and political disorder and suggests approaches to bridge this social political and ecological divide Proceedings of the ACSA Annual Meeting Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture,2000
