Chinas Tibet Autonomy Or Assimilation:

China's Tibet? Warren W. Smith, 2009 This groundbreaking book explores China's efforts to assimilate Tibet in the process rewriting Tibetan history to conform to Beijing's goals Warren W Smith Jr provides the historical context for understanding the current situation through an overview of China's actual as opposed to its promised policies toward Tibet over time His clear eyed appraisal of Chinese policy convincingly shows that the PRC's ultimate intention is assimilation rather than autonomy The author argues that Beijing fears that any genuine autonomy or dialogue with the Dalai Lama will fuel renewed nationalism in China's Tibet as the Chinese leadership calls its possession The book highlights China's past and current propaganda on Tibet to demonstrate China's sensitivity and defensiveness regarding the legitimacy of its rule It traces the history of Sino-Tibetan dialogue to show how China has tried to use it to defuse Tibetan exile and international criticism while making no concessions in regard to Tibetan autonomy In the absence of any solution Smith advocates the promotion of Tibet's right to self determination as the most viable strategy for sustaining international attention and maintaining the most essential elements of Tibetan national identity Smith's thoroughly informed work will be valuable not only to Tibet experts and students but also to the larger world of Tibet activists sympathizers and others attempting to understand China's policies

Hollywood's Representations of the Sino-Tibetan Conflict J. Daccache, B. Valeriano, 2012-12-05 Using film as a lens through which we can witness the global transformations in politics economy culture and communication this book analyzes Hollywood's shift in its depictions of China and Tibet

The Disempowered Development of Tibet in China Andrew Martin Fischer, 2013-12-20 Series Studies in Modern Tibetan Culture Lexington Books Weatherhead East Asian Institute Columbia University Since the central government of China started major campaigns for western development in the mid 1990s the economies of the Tibetan areas in Western China have grown rapidly and living standards have improved However grievances and protests have also intensified as dramatically evidenced by the protests that spread across most Tibetan areas in spring 2008 and by the more recent wave of self immolation protests that started in 2011 This book offers a detailed and careful exploration of this synergy between development and conflict in Tibet from the mid 1990s onwards when rapid economic growth has occurred in tandem with a particularly assimilationist approach of integrating Tibet into China Fischer argues that the intensified economic integration of Tibet into regional and national development strategies on these assimilationist terms within a context of continued political disempowerment and through the massive channeling of subsidies through Han Chinese dominated entities based outside the Tibetan areas has accentuated various dynamics of subordination and marginalization faced by Tibetans of all social strata Whether or not these dynamics are intended to be discriminatory they effectively accentuate the discriminatory assimilationist and disempowering characteristics of development even while producing considerable improvements in the material consumption of local Tibetans In particular strong cultural linguistic and political biases intensify ethnically exclusionary dynamics among middle and upper strata of the Tibetan labor force which is problematic considering the rapid shift of Tibetans out of agriculture and towards the highly subsidy dependent sectors of the economy especially in urban areas The combination of these disempowering dynamics with the sheer speed of dislocating and disembedding social change provides important insights into recent tensions given that it has accentuated insecurity while restricting the ability of Tibetan communities to adapt in autonomous and self determined ways The study represents one of the only macro level and systemic analyses of its kind in the scholarship on Tibet based on accessible economic analysis and extensive interdisciplinary fieldwork It also carries much interest for those interested in China and in the interactions between development inequality exclusion and conflict more generally

China's Regional Development and Tibet Rongxing Guo,2015-10-16 This book pursues both narrative and analytic approaches to better understand China s spatial economic development and its implications for Tibet Accordingly this book focuses on Tibet an autonomous region in the far west of China as the subject of an in depth case study highlighting its unique geopolitical and socioeconomic features and external and boundary conditions China s great diversity in terms of physical geography resource endowment political economy and ethnicity and religion has posed challenges to the studies of spatial and interprovincial issues Indeed the Chinese nation is far too huge and spatially diverse to be easily interpreted The only feasible approach to analyzing it is therefore to divide it into smaller geographical elements so as to arrive at better insights into the country s spatial mechanisms and regional characteristics In this context the book combines analytic and narrative approaches

Chinese Propaganda on Tibet Warren W. Smith Jr.,2023-04-11 China has produced a tremendous amount of propaganda justifying its invasion and occupation of Tibet This book reproduces excerpts from some of the most notable of these articles along with a critical analysis The primary themes of Chinese propaganda about Tibet are that Tibet has always been a part of China thus there is no question about Tibetan independence or a Chinese invasion of Tibet that the traditional Tibetan social system was a dark cruel savage feudal hell on earth from which Tibetans welcomed their liberation by the CCP and that China has selflessly assisted Tibetan social and economic development ever since while taking nothing from Tibet China denies the legitimacy of any issues of Tibetan nationalism self determination or any desire by Tibetans for an independent political existence Despite China s claims about the happiness of the Tibetan people Tibetan resistance has continued These excerpts from propaganda articles and documents reveal the political and cultural ideology of the Chinese as they attempt to maintain and justify their control over Tibet

The Museum on the Roof of the World Clare E. Harris,2012-10-30 For millions of people around the world Tibet is a domain of undisturbed tradition the Dalai Lama a spiritual guide By contrast the Tibet Museum opened in Lhasa by the Chinese in 1999 was designed to reclassify Tibetan objects as cultural relics and the Dalai Lama as obsolete Suggesting that both these views are suspect Clare E Harris argues in The Museum on the Roof of the World that for the past one hundred and fifty years British and Chinese collectors and curators have tried to convert Tibet itself into a museum an image some Tibetans have begun to contest This book is a powerful account of the museums created by for or on behalf of Tibetans and the nationalist agendas that have played out in them Harris begins with the British public's first encounter with Tibetan culture in 1854 She then examines the role of imperial collectors and photographers in representations of the region and visits competing museums of Tibet in India and Lhasa Drawing on fieldwork in Tibetan communities she also documents the activities of contemporary Tibetan artists as they try to displace the utopian visions of their country prevalent in the West as well as the negative assessments of their heritage common in China Illustrated with many previously unpublished images this book addresses the pressing question of who has the right to represent Tibet in museums and beyond

The Routledge Handbook of Tourism in Asia C. Michael Hall, Stephen J. Page, 2016-09-13 Asia is regarded as the fastest growing area for international and domestic tourism in the world today and over the next 20 years Given the economic social and environmental importance of tourism in the region there is a need for a comprehensive and readable overview of the critical debates and controversies in tourism in the region and the major factors that are affecting tourism development both now and in the foreseeable future This Handbook provides a contemporary survey of the region and its continued growth and development as a key destination and generator of tourism which is marked by a high proportion of intra regional travel The book is divided into five sections This first section provides an introduction to the region and context to the nationally focused chapters The next three sections are then broadly based on the three UNWTO Asian regions South East Asia South and Central Asia and East and North East Asia providing readers with a valuable snapshot of tourism at various scales and from various approaches and positions The concluding section considers future prospects for tourism in Asia The handbook is interdisciplinary in coverage and is also international in scope through its authorship and content It presents a range of perspectives and understanding of the processes and forces that are shaping tourism in this fascinating and dynamic region that is one of the focal points of global tourism This is essential reading for students researchers and academics interested in tourism in the growth region of Asia now and in the future
