Agrawal, 2024-08-01 Environmental conditions and processes are one of the major pillars on which the human well being rests It is the core responsibility of the society to preserve and enhance better conditions for the human well being Indeed there are several evolving unmet needs in public health Emerging and re emerging infectious diseases and a surge in the incidence of non communicable diseases including cardiovascular diseases CAD chronic respiratory diseases and metabolic diseases have been impediments to sustainable well being Many factors are critical in the global surge in the rate and incidence of cardiovascular diseases These include the shift from acute to chronic conditions the shift from single risk factor vs multiple influences aging population global health disparities exposure to lower harmful influences over a longer period etc However the epigenetic factors due to unhealthy environment play a most significant role in the underlying pathogenesis of cardiovascular diseases Unfortunately this has been ignored for a long time and realized lately to expand and disseminate knowledge to general population expand research activities to investigate the cellular and molecular mechanisms and develop better preventive and treatment strategies The most significant environmental impoverishment in the pathogenesis of cardiovascular diseases include different genetical chemical physical and biological influences but not limited to socio economic status and lack of nutrients nutritional aspects including habits diets and additives inhaled and ingested pollutants exhaust gas and gasoline products tobacco smoke water pollution alcohol consumption soil and mineral pollution solvents pesticides microplastics non critical usage of drugs climate change extreme

Neuropsychology of Cardiovascular Disease Shari R. Waldstein, Merrill F. Elias, 2015-02-11 Cardiovascular disease CVD is the leading cause of morbidity and mortality in the United States and most westernized nations Both CVDs and their risk factors confer substantial risk for stroke and dementia but are also associated with more subtle changes in brain structure and function and cognitive performance prior to such devastating clinical outcomes It has been suggested that there exists a continuum of brain abnormalities and cognitive difficulties associated with increasingly severe manifestations of cardiovascular risk factors and diseases that precede vascular cognitive impairment and may ultimately culminate in stroke or dementia This second edition examines the relations of a host of behavioral and biomedical risk factors in addition to subclinical and clinical CVDs to brain and cognitive function Associations with dementia and pre dementia cognitive performance are reported described and discussed with a focus on underlying brain mechanisms Future research agendas are suggested and clinical implications are considered The volume is a resource for professionals and students in neuropsychology behavioral medicine neurology cardiology cardiovascular and behavioral epidemiology gerontology geriatric medicine nursing adult developmental psychology and for other physicians and health care professionals who work with patients with or at risk for CVDs
