Community Action and Organizational Change Brenton D. Faber, 2002 Faber technical communications Clarkson U examines issues relating to the process of organizational change and the process of researching such change including how people cope with create adapt to and resist change how people research and talk about it and the links created and severed between theory and practice the researcher and the researched and the academic and the community The text combines theoretical discussions of these issues drawing on the work of Michel Foucault Anthony Giddens and Pierre Bourdieu with Faber's firsthand experiences in the study and implementation of change For academics businesspeople not for profit organizations and community action groups interested in a sustained examination of change Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR

Community Literacy and the Rhetoric of Local Publics Elenore Long, 2008-03-22 Offering a comparative analysis of community literacy studies Community Literacy and the Rhetoric of Local Publics traces common values in diverse accounts of ordinary people going public Elenore Long offers a five point theoretical framework Used to review major community literacy projects that have emerged in recent years this local public framework uncovers profound differences with significant consequence within five formative perspectives 1 the guiding metaphor behind such projects 2 the context that defines a local public shaping what is an effective even possible performance 3 the tenor and affective register of the discourse 4 the literate practices that shape the discourse and most significantly 5 the nature of rhetorical invention or the generative process by which people in these accounts respond to exigencies such as getting around gatekeepers affirming identities and speaking out with others across difference

The End of Genre Brenton Faber, 2022-11-02 This book explores early new critical debates about intention tracing how and why intention was dismissed across much humanities scholarship and how it can be revisited and made relevant as a key formative evaluative and ethical concept The author argues that the academic disinterest in intention occurred simultaneously as genre criticism and later the rhetorical interest in genre came into its own Genre became a way to simultaneously elide and naturalize intention The book elaborates on the pedagogical ethical and empirical consequences naturalizing intention through genre has had for rhetorical studies and it offers a new term curations to identify discursive forms actions and intentions working simultaneously Finally he also examines the gap between the humanities and STEM fields and shows specific ways scientists and engineers have called for the humanities to become more invested in intention as both a critical and an operational concept This book will be of interest to students and scholars of discourse studies and critical discourse analysis rhetoric and professional communication including those in fields such as medicine engineering STS and business studies

Rhetorics, Literacies, and Narratives of Sustainability Peter N. Goggin, 2011-02-23 In this volume rhetoricians literacy scholars and humanists have come together to examine the complex discursive constructions of sustainability Touching on topics including conservation efforts in specific locales social and political constructions of rhetorical place and space community literacy

Key Theoretical Frameworks Angela M. Haas, Michelle F. Eble, 2018-10-17 Drawing on social justice methodologies and cultural studies scholarship Key Theoretical Frameworks for Teaching Technical Communication in the Twenty First Century offers new curricular and pedagogical approaches to teaching technical communication Including original essays by emerging and established scholars the volume educates students teachers and practitioners on identifying and assessing issues of social justice and globalization The collection provides a valuable resource for teachers new to translating social justice theories to the classroom by presenting concrete examples related to technical communication Each contribution adopts a particular theoretical approach explains the theory situates it within disciplinary scholarship contextualizes the approach from the author's experience and offers additional teaching applications The first volume of its kind Key Theoretical Frameworks for Teaching Technical Communication in the Twenty First Century links the theoretical with the pedagogical in order to articulate use and assess social justice frameworks for designing and teaching courses in technical communication Contributors Godwin Y Agboka Matthew Cox Marcos Del Hierro Jessica Edwards Erin A Frost Elise Verzosa Hurley Natasha N Jones Cruz Medina Marie E Moeller Kristen R Moore Donnie Johnson Sackey Gerald Savage J Blake Scott Barbi Smyser Fauble Kenneth Walker Rebecca Walton

Communicative Practices in Workplaces and the Professions Mark Zachry, Charlotte Thralls, 2017-03-02 Bringing together prominent scholars from a variety of disciplines Communicative Practices in Workplaces and the Professions Cultural Perspectives on the Regulation of Discourse and Organizations offers readers an engaging set of essays on the complicated relationship between discourse and the many institutions within which people act Each author brings a unique theoretical perspective to conceptualizing how discourse is regulated and how it regulates when human activity is organized for such purposes as work or belonging to a profession Together the contributors to this collection offer a provocatively complex picture of what regulation means and the means of regulation

Unsustainable Jessica Restaino, Laurie J. C. Cella, 2013 Unsustainable Re imagining Community Literacy Public Writing Service Learning and the University edited by Jessica Restaino and Laurie Cella explores short lived university community writing projects in an effort to rethink the long held gold standard of long term sustainability in community writing work Contributors examine their own efforts in order to provide alternate models for understanding assessing and enacting university community writing projects that for a range of reasons fall outside of traditional practice This collection considers what has become an increasingly unified call for praxis where scholar practitioners explore a specific project that fell short of theorized best practice sustainability in order to determine not only the nature of what remains how and why we might find value in a community based writing project that lacks long term sustainability for example but also how or why we might rethink redefine and reevaluate best practice ideals in the first place In so doing the contributors are at once responding to what has been an increasing acknowledgment in the field that for a variety of reasons many community based writing projects do not go as initially planned and also applying in praxis a framework for thinking about and studying such projects Unsustainable represents the kind of scholarly work that some of the most recognizable names in the field have been calling for over the past five years This book affirms that unpredictability is an indispensable factor in the field and argues that such unpredictability presents in fact demands a theoretical approach that takes these practical experiences as its base

Critical Power Tools J. Blake Scott ,Bernadette Longo ,Katherine V. Wills,2007-06-01 Winner of the 2007 National Council of Teachers of English NCTE Award for Best Collection of Essays on Technical and Scientific Communication The first book to focus on the intersection of cultural studies and technical communication Critical Power Tools draws on various traditions of cultural studies to develop new or expanded theoretical methodological and pedagogical approaches to technical communication Offered as a sourcebook for the field the book is organized into three parts The first section emphasizing theory building reconceptualizes key concepts or practices such as usability through a cultural studies lens The second section illustrates alternative research methods through several case studies The third section offers critical and productive pedagogical approaches including specific assignments applicable to both undergraduate and graduate courses Crossing Borders, Drawing Boundaries Barbara Couture,Patti Wojahn,2016-03-01 With growing anxiety about American identity fueling debates about the nation s borders ethnicities and languages Crossing Borders Drawing Boundaries provides a timely and important rhetorical exploration of divisionary bounds that divide an Us from a Them The concept of border calls for attention and the authors in this collection respond by describing it challenging it confounding it and at times erasing it Motivating us to see anew the many lines that unite divide and define us the essays in this volume highlight how discourse at borders and boundaries can create or thwart conditions for establishing identity and admitting difference Each chapter analyzes how public discourse at the site of physical or metaphorical borders presents or confounds these conditions and consequently effective participation a key criterion for a modern democracy The settings are various encompassing vast public spaces such as cities and areas within them the rhetorical spaces of history books museum displays activist events and media outlets and the intimate settings of community and classroom conversations Crossing Borders Drawing Boundaries shows how rich communication can be when diverse cultures intersect and create new opportunities for human connection even while different populations cultures age groups and political parties adopt irreconcilable positions It will be of interest to scholars in rhetoric and literacy studies and students in rhetorical analysis and public discourse Contributors include Andrea Alden Cori Brewster Robert Brooke Randolph Cauthen Jennifer Clifton Barbara Couture Vanessa Cozza Anita C Hernandez Roberta J Herter Judy Holiday Elenore Long Jos A Montelongo Karen P Peirce Jonathan P Rossing Susan A Schiller Christopher Schroeder Tricia C Serviss M nica Torres Kathryn Valentine Victor Villanueva and Patti Wojahn Civic Engagement and Technical Communication James M. Dubinsky, J. Harrison Carpenter, 2023-04-14 This special issue on civic engagement and technical communication focuses on the ways educators can help students become actively engaged members of society particularly a rhetorical democracy The first essay examines the concept of community as a locus for civic engagement and question some of the definitions of community seen embedded in current pedagogical practices The next article seeks to shape understanding of practice The tension of developing students civic awareness and engagement is the topic of the third paper The fourth article helps students gain skills and organization awareness and improves the perceived relevance of the work The final two essays approach the issue of civic engagement from slightly different angles one examining the role of teacher as both rhetor and instructor and the other looking to the past for possible solutions for the future By continuing the conversation about the relationship between technical communication and the public good and focusing specifically on pedagogical strategies and their theoretical and historical underpinnings the authors in this special issue clarify roles that technical communication and technical communicators play in civil society as well as ways curricula can be shaped to prepare students to fill those roles
