Learning Through Community Engagement Judyth Sachs,Lindie Clark,2016-08-10 This book charts the development of a whole institution approach to university community engagement at a modern Australian university highlighting the pivotal role that curriculum renewal can play in organizational transformation It describes how Macquarie University s PACE Professional and Community Engagement program developed and fostered a culture of learning that has been at the center of academic renewal differentiation and institutional change It details the development of the PACE pedagogical model the establishment of the network of stakeholder relationships which underpin it and the embedding of the model across the whole institution Authored by those directly involved in the change project this book tells the story of PACE its achievements challenges success factors and future directions A series of dovetailing contributions by leading international scholars of university community engagement set the PACE story in its global context This book adds to the scholarship of learning through community engagement provides international perspectives on trends and issues in university community engagement contributes to a broader understanding of the practice and pedagogy of community engagement and discusses the challenges and opportunities of implementing and sustaining change in the higher education sector Food prices and the wages of the poor: A low-cost, high-value approach to high-frequency food security monitoring Headey, Derek D.,Bachewe, Fantu Nisrane,Marshall, Quinn,Raghunathan, Kalyani,Mahrt, Kristi,2023-03-24 International food prices have become increasingly volatile in recent decades with global food crises in 2008 2011 and most recently in 2022 The 2008 crisis prompted international agencies to ambitiously extend their monitoring of domestic food prices in developing countries to strengthen early warning systems and food and nutrition surveillance However food inflation by itself is not sufficient for measuring disposable income or food affordability for that one must measure either changes in income or changes in an income proxy Here we propose the use of a low cost income proxy that can be monitored at the same high frequency and spatial granularity as food prices the wages of poor unskilled workers While not all poor people are unskilled wage earners changes in the real reservation wages of low skilled activities are likely to be highly predictive of changes in disposable income for poorer segments of society Deaton and Dreze 2002 We demonstrate this by estimating changes in food wages wages deflated food price indices during well documented food price crises in Ethiopia 2008 2011 and 2022 Sri Lanka 2022 and Myanmar 2022 In all these instances food wages declined by 20 30% often in the space of a few months Moreover in Myanmar we use a household panel survey data to show that the decline in food wages over the course of 2022 closely matches estimate declines in household disposable income and proportional increases in income based poverty We argue that the affordability of nutritious food for all people at all times is a critically important dimension of food security and we advocate for monitoring the wages of the poor as a cheap and accurate means of capturing that dimension
