Ceramics In America 2014 Ceramics In America Annual:

Ceramics in America 2014 Robert Hunter, 2015-02-03 The 2014 volume of Ceramics in America presents an exciting collection of essays from prominent scholars in the broad field of ceramic history Ceramics of the Indigenous Cultures of South America Michael D. Glascock, Hector Neff, Kevin J. Vaughn, 2019-03-15 This cohesive edited volume showcases data collected from more than seven thousand ceramic artifacts including pottery figurines clay pipes and other objects from sites across South America Covering a time span from 900 BC to AD 1500 the essays by leading archaeologists working in South America illustrate the diversity of ceramic provenance investigations taking place in seven different countries An introductory chapter provides a background for interpreting compositional data and a final chapter offers a review of the individual projects Students scholars and researchers in archaeological study on the interactions between the indigenous peoples of South America and studies of their ceramics will find this volume an invaluable reference Minerals Yearbook, 2009 Minerals Yearbook Geological Survey, Interior Department, Mines Bureau, 2019-01-31 This volume covering metals and minerals contains chapters on approximately 90 commodities In addition this volume has chapters on mining and quarrying trends and on statistical surveying methods used by Minerals Information plus a statistical summary Ceramics in America 2020 Robert Hunter, 2021 The 2020 volume of Ceramics in America is a celebration of the depth and diversity of ceramics in the American context Beautifully illustrated articles explore the use of clay from the most basic building bricks to refined earthenwares promoting the political and economic issues of the American Revolution Of special interest is the origin of the ceramic manufacturing spark in America looking at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia cited by historians and connoisseurs as the height of recognition of achievement for ceramic production in the United States The archaeological discovery of rare black delft teapot fragments from Charleston's Drayton Hall is recounted in an exciting collector's narrative Other articles will include a profile of North Carolina potter David Stuempfle who continues the old age tradition of producing wood fired stoneware a study of Thomas Jefferson's Chinese porcelain and Pueblo pottery collected by a German Museum in the early twentieth century Ceramics in America 2021 Robert Hunter, Ronald Fuchs, 2022 The 2021 volume of Ceramics in America features new discoveries about ceramics used in the American context Topics include American stoneware Chinese export porcelain and commemorative historical and political wares Of special interest are ca 1790 1810 slip decorated earthenwares from the manufactory of Enoch Wood and James Caldwell Ceramic Perspectives on Connectivity in the Ancient Mediterranean Jill Hilditch, Martina Revello Lami, 2025-10-01 The identification of ceramic imports within prehistoric and historic assemblages has long been the primary indicator for identifying connections between different sites and regions Yet this has fostered a presence absence diagnosis for contact between different communities Approaches such as post colonial perspectives and network analysis which focus on the nature of the connections are now beginning to offer more meaningful ways of considering past interactions These approaches can bridge the traditional divide between prehistoric and historic and offer a valuable contribution to the wider study of past interactions in the ancient Mediterranean The geographical or topographical setting of an archaeological site is often acknowledged as an important factor in their significance or how well connected the community was within the cultural landscape But to what extent do geographical categories such as island coast mainland or hinterland influence modern ideas on the dynamics of these ancient communities This volume uses ceramic studies across multiple spatial and diachronic scales to provide new insights into the connectivity of ancient Mediterranean communities

Global Objects Edward S. Cooke, 2022-09-13 A bold reorientation of art history that bridges the divide between fine art and material culture through an examination of objects and their uses Art history is often viewed through cultural or national lenses that define some works as fine art while relegating others to the category of craft Global Objects points the way to an interconnected history of art examining a broad array of functional aesthetic objects that transcend geographic and temporal boundaries and challenging preconceived ideas about what is and is not art Avoiding traditional binaries such as East versus West and fine art versus decorative art Edward Cooke looks at the production consumption and circulation of objects made from clay fiber wood and nonferrous base metals Carefully considering the materials and process of making and connecting process to product and people he demonstrates how objects act on those who look at use and acquire them He reveals how objects retain aspects of their local fabrication while absorbing additional meanings in subtle and unexpected ways as they move through space and time In emphasizing multiple centers of art production amid constantly changing contexts Cooke moves beyond regional histories driven by geography nation state time period or medium Beautifully illustrated Global Objects traces the social lives of objects from creation to purchase and from use to experienced meaning charting exciting new directions in art history
