Jupyter Notebook Users Manual

This page describes the functionality of the Jupyter (<http://jupyter.org>) electronic document system. Jupyter documents are called "notebooks" and can be seen as many things at once. For example, notebooks allow:

- creation in a standard web browser
- direct sharing
- using text with styles (such as italics and titles) to be explicitly marked using a wikitext language (<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Markdown>)
- easy creation and display of beautiful equations
- creation and execution of interactive embedded computer programs
- easy creation and display of interactive visualizations

Jupyter notebooks (previously called "IPython notebooks") are thus interesting and useful to different groups of people:

- readers who want to view and execute computer programs
- authors who want to create executable documents or documents with visualizations
