Canadian Television Text And Context Film And Media Studies:

Canadian Television Marian Bredin, Scott Henderson, Sarah A. Matheson, 2012-06-01 Canadian Television Text and Context explores the creation and circulation of entertainment television in Canada from the interdisciplinary perspective of television studies Each chapter connects arguments about particular texts of Canadian television to critical analysis of the wider cultural social and economic contexts in which they are created The book surveys the commercial and technological imperatives of the Canadian television industry the shifting role of the CBC as Canada's public broadcaster the dynamics of Canada's multicultural and multiracial audiences and the function of television's star system Foreword by The Globe and Mail's television critic John Doyle Television for Women Rachel Moseley, Helen Wheatley, Helen Wood, 2016-11-10 Television for Women brings together emerging and established scholars to reconsider the question of television for women In the context of the 2000s when the potential meanings of both terms have expanded and changed so significantly in what ways might the concept of programming addressed explicitly to a group identified by gender still matter The essays in this collection take the existing scholarship in this field in significant new directions They expand its reach in terms of territory looking beyond for example the paradigmatic Anglo American axis and also historical span Additionally whilst the influential methodological formation of production text and audience is still visible here the new research in Television for Women frequently reconfigures that relationship The topics included here are far reaching from television as material culture at the British exhibition in the first half of the twentieth century women's roles in television production past and present to popular 1960s television such as The Liver Birds and in the twenty first century highly successful programmes including Orange Is the New Black Call the Midwife One Born Every Minute and Wanted Down Under This book presents ground breaking research on historical and contemporary relationships between women and television around the world and is an ideal resource for students of television media and gender studies Children, Youth, and International Television Debbie Olson, Adrian Schober, 2022-03-29 This volume explores how television has been a significant conduit for the public consumption of changing ideas about children childhood and national identity via a critical examination of programs that prominently feature children and youth in international television The chapters connect relevant cultural attitudes within their respective countries to an analysis of children and or childhood in international children's programming The collection addresses how international children's programming in global and local context informs changing ideas about children and childhood including notions of individual and citizen identity formation Offering new insights into childhood and television studies this book will be of great interest to graduate students scholars and professionals in television studies childhood studies media studies cultural studies popular culture studies and American studies What Television Remembers Jennifer VanderBurgh, 2023-10-15 Television in Canada has been undervalued as a cultural form Despite being publicly funded Canadian television programs are also notoriously difficult to access once they go off the air which has compounded the problem In What Television Remembers Jennifer VanderBurgh intervenes in the story of the medium in Canada by exploring the long relationship between TV and the city of Toronto From the first demonstration of television at the Canadian National Exhibition in 1939 and the mass viewing of Queen Elizabeth II s coronation broadcast in 1953 to the late century installation of TV screens in public spaces around the city television has shaped Toronto s collective imagination and affirmed viewers in their multiple identities as local residents national citizens and transnational consumers In a close reading of Toronto based CBC dramas from the 1960s to 2010 VanderBurgh explains how the city has functioned as a strategic location in CBC programming reflecting dramatically changing ideas about Canadian identity community and citizenship At a time when many are suggesting that the era of television is over What Television Remembers sounds the alarm that we are in danger of forgetting TV in Canada without appreciating the complexities of its contributions and legacy

Advertising and Promotional Culture P David Marshall,Joanne Morreale,2017-12-21 This key textbook traces the development of advertising from the mid nineteenth century to the present providing connections with the past that illuminate present developments and point to future possibilities Chapters take a variety of theoretical approaches to address four main themes how advertising imagines the future through the promise of transformation how tribalism creates a sense of collective identity organised around a product how advertising builds engagement through participation presumption how the blurring of advertising news art education and entertainment characterises the attention economy P David Marshall and Joanne Morreale expertly trace these themes back to the origins of consumer culture and demonstrate that while they have adapted to accord with new technologies they remain the central foci of advertising today Ideal for researchers of Media Studies Communication Cultural Studies or Advertising at all levels this is the essential guide to understanding the contemporary milieu and future directions for the advertising industry

Detecting Canada Jeannette Sloniowski,Marilyn Rose,2014-03-25 The first serious book length study of crime writing in Canada Detecting Canada contains thirteen essays on many of Canada s most popular crime writers including Peter Robinson Giles Blunt Gail Bowen Thomas King Michael Slade Margaret Atwood and Anthony Bidulka Genres examined range from the well loved police procedural and the amateur sleuth to those less well known such as anti detection and contemporary noir novels The book looks critically at the esteemed sixties television show Wojeck as well as the more recent series Da Vinci s Inquest Da Vinci s City Hall and Intelligence and the controversial Durham County a critically acclaimed but violent television series that ran successfully in both Canada and the United States The essays in Detecting Canada look at texts from a variety of perspectives including postcolonial studies gender and queer studies feminist studies Indigenous studies and critical race and class studies Crime fiction enjoyed by so many around the world speaks to all of us about justice citizenship and important social issues in an uncertain world

Hinterland Remixed Andrew Burke,2019-11-06 Like the flute melody from Hinterland Who s Who the 1970s haunt Canadian cultural memory Though the decade often feels lost to history Hinterland Remixed focuses on boldly innovative works as well as popular film television and music to show that Canada never fully left the 1970s behind Andrew Burke reveals how contemporary artists and filmmakers have revisited the era's cinematic and televisual residues to uncover what has been lost over the years Investigating how the traces of an analogue past circulate in a digital age Burke digs through the remnants of 1970s Canadiana and examines key audiovisual works from this overlooked decade uncovering the period's aspirations desires fears and anxieties He then looks to contemporary projects that remix remediate and reanimate the period Exploring an idiosyncratic selection of works from Michael Snow's experimental landscape film La Région Centrale to SCTV's satirical skewering of network television to L'Atelier national du Manitoba's video lament for the Winnipeg Jets this book asks key questions about nation nostalgia media and memory A timely intervention Hinterland Remixed demands we recognize the ways in which the unrealized cultural ambitions and unresolved anxieties of a previous decade continue to resonate in our current lives

Producing Sovereignty Karrmen Crey, 2024-03-05 Exploring how Indigenous media has flourished across Canada from the 1990s to the present In the early 1990s Indigenous media experienced a boom across Canada resulting in a vast landscape of film TV and digital media Coinciding with a resurgence of Indigenous political activism Indigenous media highlighted issues around sovereignty and Indigenous rights to broader audiences in Canada In Producing Sovereignty Karrmen Crey considers the conditions social movements state policy and evolutions in technology that enabled this proliferation Exploring the wide field of media culture institutions Crey pays particular attention to those that Indigenous media makers engaged during this cultural moment including state film agencies arts organizations provincial broadcasters and more Producing Sovereignty ranges from the formation of the Aboriginal Film and Video Art Alliance in the early 1990s and its partnership with the Banff Centre for the Arts to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's 2016 production of Highway of Tears an immersive 360 degree short film directed by Anishinaabe filmmaker Lisa Jackson highlighting works by Indigenous creators along the way and situating Indigenous media within contexts that pay close attention to the role of media producing institutions Importantly Crey focuses on institutions with limited scholarly attention shifting beyond the work of the National Film Board of Canada to explore lesser known institutions such as educational broadcasters and independent production companies that create programming for the Aboriginal Peoples Television Network Through its refusal to treat Indigenous media simply as a set of cultural aesthetics Producing Sovereignty offers a revealing media history of this cultural moment

DADA, Surrealism, and the Cinematic Effect R. Bruce Elder, 2015-10-15 This book deals with the early intellectual reception of the cinema and the manner in which art theorists philosophers cultural theorists and especially artists of the first decades of the twentieth century responded to its advent While the idea persists that early writers on film were troubled by the cinema's lowly form this work proposes that there was another largely unrecognized strain in the reception of it Far from anxious about film's provenance in popular entertainment some writers and artists proclaimed that the cinema was the most important art for the moderns as it exemplified the vibrancy of contemporary life

This view of the cinema was especially common among those whose commitments were to advanced artistic practices Their notions about how to recast the art media or the forms forged from those media's materials and the urgency of doing so formed the principal part of the conceptual core of the artistic programs advanced by the vanguard art movements of the first half of the twentieth century This book a companion to the author's previous Harmony Dissent examines the Dada and Surrealist movements as responses to the advent of the cinema

Making Feminist Media Elizabeth Groeneveld, 2016-08-30

Making Feminist Media provides new ways of thinking about the vibrant media and craft cultures generated by Riot Grrrl and feminism's third wave It focuses on a cluster of feminist publications including BUST Bitch HUES Venus Zine and Rockrgrl that began as zines in the 1990s By tracking their successes and failures this book provides insight into the politics of feminism's recent past Making Feminist Media brings together interviews with magazine editors research from zine archives and analysis of the advertising articles editorials and letters to the editor found in third wave feminist magazines It situates these publications within the long history of feminist publishing in the United States and Canada and argues that third wave feminist magazines share important continuities and breaks with their historical forerunners These publishing lineages challenge the still dominant and hotly contested wave metaphor categorization of feminist culture The stories struggles and strategies of these magazines not only represent contemporary feminism they create and shape feminist cultures The publications provide a feminist counter public sphere in which the competing interests of editors writers readers and advertisers can interact Making Feminist Media argues that reading feminist magazines is far more than the consumption of information or entertainment it is a profoundly intimate and political activity that shapes how readers understand themselves and each other as feminist thinkers
