Cultural Citizenship An Integrative Agenda For A Transdisciplinary Debate:

Cultural Citizenship. An Integrative Agenda for a Transdisciplinary Debate Frederik Boven, 2014-10-13 Master's Thesis from the year 2014 in the subject Cultural Studies Miscellaneous grade 1.2 University of Groningen Faculty of Philosophy language English abstract Cultural citizenship is a new term to highlight that participating in society is not just a legal or political issue but has a cultural dimension as well. For example, citizens need stories, performances, and role models to express who they are. In this Research Master Thesis, political philosopher Frederik Boven brings together authors from philosophy, sociology, anthropology, cultural studies, and cultural policy. The authors include Paul Ricoeur, Will Kymlicka, Jeffrey Alexander, and Renato Rosaldo. Combining methods from transdisciplinary studies and cognitive linguistics, an agenda is developed for a wide-ranging debate on cultural citizenship. This Research Master Thesis focuses on the Netherlands, where the relationship between culture and citizenship has become particularly contested in the beginning of the 21st century. Immigrants, especially Muslims, have seen their citizenship called in question. Dutch artists have faced severe budget cuts. As everywhere, gays and women struggle for respect and visibility in the public domain. Three recommendations are made to deal with these issues: 1. make culture equally accessible to all citizens; 2. protect the richness and viability of culture; 3. balance unity and diversity.

Back cover Global Sustainability, Cultural Perspectives and Challenges for Transdisciplinary Integrated Research Benno Werlen, 2015-05-28 This book offers new perspectives of transdisciplinary research in methodological as well as theoretical respects. It provides insights in the two-fold: bio-physical and the socio-cultural global embeddedness of local living conditions on the basis of selected empirical studies from Latin America, Asia, Africa, Australia, and Europe. The theoretical foundations of ecological research and sustainability policies were developed at the end of the nineteenth century. They are largely based on investigations of living spaces and the evolution and differentiation of varied life forms. This perspective is embedded in the practical and theoretical European problem situations of the past and lacks social and cultural differentiation. The transformation of spatial and natural relations as a result of the globalization process is so radical that new theories are needed to solve 21st-century ecological problems. Moreover, in view of the lack of an ontologically sound and promising strategy for transdisciplinary problem solving as well as an acceptable consideration of the power of cultural schemas relating to natural living spaces, interpretations, there is a strong need to focus on sustainable social practices, habits, and routines rather than on predominantly living spaces or ecotopes. This book elaborates on the transdisciplinary approach by reflecting on the theoretical heritage and a global perspective of sustainability by focusing on the primary role of a social approach in sustainability research and by putting emphasis on cultural dimension of sustainability It postulates that global sustainability is grounded in a global understanding of our everyday activities The Latin American Cultural Studies Reader Ana del Sarto,Alicia Ríos,Abril Trigo,2004 Essays by intellectuals and specialists in Latin American cultural studies that provide a comprehensive view of the specific problems topics and methodologies of the field vis a vis British and U S cultural studies Psychology 4e Douglas A. Urban Health Alessandra Battisti,Maurizio Marceca,Silvia Iorio,2020-07-15 This book qualitatively and quantitatively examines the relationships between the constructed environment health and social vulnerability It demonstrates that spatial disintegration is often intertwined with health and social inequalities and therefore a multidisciplinary approach to urban health is essential in order to analyze the impact that psycho social environmental factors can have on objective and perceived health and to investigate the inequalities in healthcare and medical assistance processes Empirical relationships have been observed between urban environment social vulnerability and health in different contexts however there is still a lack of standardized tools that allow us to gain a clear understanding of how health inequalities and daily life are generated In order to address this issue a national network of active research groups has been created to draft and develop a prototypical analysis infrastructure to facilitate empirical studies aimed at shedding light on the complex relationships between health disparities socio environmental and economic distress as well as personal and collective health Given the interest in achieving meaningful fair and lasting solutions to health inequalities and the current lack of an analytical system there is the need for new multidisciplinary approaches oriented toward the quality of life within a eco social model of health Providing an overview of the methodological approaches discussed this book will appeal to researchers At the same time it allows those working in local and government social care healthcare and administrative institutions to gain insights into best practices in urban contexts
