Region Out of Place Courtney J. Campbell, 2022-05-31 The Brazilian Northeast has long been a marginalized region with a complex relationship to national identity It is often portrayed as impoverished backward and rebellious yet traditional and culturally authentic Brazil is known for its strong national identity but national identities do not preclude strong regional identities In Region Out of Place Courtney J Campbell examines how groups within the region have asserted their identity relevance and uniqueness through interactions that transcend national borders From migration to labor mobilization from wartime dating to beauty pageants from literacy movements to representations of banditry in film Campbell explores how the development of regional cultural identity is a modern internationally embedded conversation that circulated among Brazilians of every social class Part of a region based nationalism that reflects the anxiety that conflicting desires for modernity progress and cultural authenticity provoked in the twentieth century this identity was forged by residents who continually stepped out of their expected roles taking their region s concerns to an international stage

Brazilian Theater, 1970-2010 Eva Paulino Bueno, Robson Corrêa de Camargo, 2015-03-06 How did Brazilian theater survive under the military dictatorship of 1964 1985 How did it change once the regime was over This collection of new essays is the first to cover Brazilian theater during this period Brazilian scholars and artists discuss the history of a theater community that not only resisted the regime but reinvented itself and continued to develop more sophisticated forms of expression even in the face of competition from television and other media The contributors recount the struggle to stage meaningful plays at a time when some artists and intellectuals were exiled others imprisoned tortured or killed With the return of democracy other important issues arose how to ensure space for different practices and for regional theater and how to continue producing international plays that could be meaningful for a Brazilian audience

Changing Africa: the First Literary Generation of Independent Cape Verde Gerald Moser, 2007-12 Scholars have been curious about the development of arts letters in Africa since the last European colonies on that continent attained independence in 1975 On Cape Verde the Portuguese entered into close relations with Black Africa represented by enslaved men women children it carried there from the nearest mainland From the mid 19th century on works of fiction poetry were written in Cape Verde but this lit remained a regional or colonial variant of the lit of Portugal The foundations of a national lit were laid between 1935 1960 with a group of intellectuals gathered around the poet Jorge Barbosa In Nov 1986 an internat congress of writers scholars was held to celebrate the 50th anniversary of their journal Claridade Map

Intellectuals and the Search for National Identity in Twentieth-Century Brazil Ronald H. Chilcote, 2014-09-08 This book discusses twentieth century Brazilian political thought arguing that while Rio de Janeiro intellectuals envisaged the state and the national bourgeoisie as the means to overcome dependency on foreign ideas and culture S o Paulo intellectuals looked to civil society and the establishment of new academic institutions in the search for national identity Ronald H Chilcote begins his study by outlining Brazilian intellectuals attempt to transcend a sense of inferiority emanating from Brazilian colonialism and backwardness Next he traces the struggle for national identity in Rio de Janeiro through an account of how intellectuals of varying political persuasions united in search of a political ideology of national development He then presents an analysis by S o Paulo intellectuals on racial discrimination social inequality and class differentiation under early capitalism and industrialization The book concludes with a discussion on how Brazilian intellectuals challenged foreign thinking about development through the state and representative democratic institutions in contrast to popular and participatory democratic practices
