Cultures and Globalization Helmut K. Anheier, Yudhishtir R. Isar, 2010 Cultures and Globalization Helmut K Anheier, Yudhishtir Raj Isar, 2011-05-09 Bringing together a truly global range of scholars this volume explores heritage memory and identity through a diverse set of subjects including heritage sites practices of memorialization museums sites of contestation and human rights Global Heritage Lynn Meskell, 2015-06-22 Examines the social cultural and ethical dimensions of heritage research and practice and the underlying international politics of protecting cultural and natural resources around the globe Focuses on ethnographic and embedded perspectives as well as a commitment to ethical engagement Appeals to a broad audience from archaeologists to heritage professionals museum curators to the general public The contributors comprise an outstanding team representing some of the most prominent scholars in this broad field with a combination of senior and emerging scholars and an emphasis on international contributions The Heritage Machine Pablo Alonso Gonzalez, 2018-12-20 This book upturns the conventional understanding of heritage challenging widespread notions about how we relate to and why we preserve the past Heritage research is often based on the assumption that heritage is something given to us that it is good and valuable in its own right However by looking at the historical and cultural roots of heritage and its development through the Enlightenment modernity and capitalism Pablo Alonso Gonzalez shows that it is in fact a system pervaded by fetishistic social relationships embedded in capitalism and not as benign as it appears Focusing on a case study in the region of Maragater a Spain Alonso Gonzalez explores the ethnic and racial discrimination towards the local population in the context of Spanish nationalism and how this formed the region s heritage today By challenging mainstream scholarship in the field The Heritage Machine rethinks the relations between heritage ideology and capitalism Citizens, Civil Society and Heritage-Making in Asia Hsin-Huang Michael Hsiao, 2018-02-14 This volume is based on papers from the second in a series of three conferences that deal with the multi scalar processes of heritage making ranging from the local to the national and international levels involving different players with different degrees of agency and interests These players include citizens and civil society the state and international organizations and actors The current volume focuses on the role of citizens and civil society in the politics of heritage making looking at how these players at the grass roots level make sense of the past in the present Who are these local players that seek to define the meaning of heritage in their everyday lives How do they negotiate with the state or contest the influence of the state in determining what their heritage is These and other questions will be taken up in various Asian contexts in this volume to foreground the local dynamics of heritage politics

Contemporary Archaeology and the City Laura McAtackney, Krysta Ryzewski, 2017-07-14 Contemporary Archaeology and the City foregrounds the archaeological study of post industrial and other urban transformations through a diverse international collection of case studies Over the past decade contemporary archaeology has emerged as a dynamic force for dissecting and contextualizing the material complexities of present day societies Contemporary archaeology challenges conventional anthropological and archaeological conceptions of the past by pushing temporal boundaries closer to if not into the present The volume is organized around three themes that highlight the multifaceted character of urban transitions in present day cities creativity ruination and political action The case studies offer comparative perspectives on transformative global urban processes in local contexts through research conducted in the struggling post industrial cities of Detroit Belfast Indianapolis Berlin Liverpool Bel m and post Apartheid Cape Town as well as the thriving urban centres of Melbourne New York City London Chicago and Istanbul Together the volume contributions demonstrate how the contemporary city is an urban palimpsest comprised by archaeological assemblages of the built environment the surface and buried sub surface that are traces of the various pasts entangled with one another in the present This volume aims to position the city as one of the most important and dynamic arenas for archaeological studies of the contemporary by presenting a range of theoretically engaged case studies that highlight some of the major issues that the study of contemporary cities pose for archaeologists

Still Life Henrietta L. Moore, 2013-05-20 How adequate are our theories of globalisation for analysing the worlds we share with others In this provocative new book Henrietta Moore asks us to step back and re examine in a fresh way the interconnections normally labeled globalisation Rather than beginning with abstract processes and flows Moore starts by analyzing the hopes desires and satisfactions of individuals in their day to day lives Drawing on a wide range of examples from African initiation rituals to Japanese anime from sex in virtual worlds to Schubert songs Moore develops a theory of the ethical imagination exploring how ideas about the human subject and its capacities for self making and social transformation form a basis for reconceptualizing the role and significance of culture in a global age She shows how the ideas of social analysts and ordinary people intertwine and diverge and argues for an ethics of engagement based on an understanding of the human need to engage with cultural problems and seek social change This innovative and challenging book is essential reading for anyone interested in the key debates about culture and globalization in the contemporary world

Designing Memory Sabina Tanović, 2019-11-28 This innovative study of memorial architecture investigates how design can translate memories of human loss into tangible structures creating spaces for remembering Using approaches from history psychology anthropology and sociology Sabina Tanovi explores purposes behind creating contemporary memorials in a given location their translation into architectural concepts their materialisation in the face of social and political challenges and their influence on the transmission of memory Covering the period from the First World

War to the present she looks at memorials such as the Holocaust museums in Mechelen and Drancy as well as memorials for the victims of terrorist attacks to unravel the private and public role of memorial architecture and the possibilities of architecture as a form of agency in remembering and dealing with a difficult past The result is a distinctive contribution to the literature on history and memory and on architecture as a link to the past
