Seelig, 2021-12-14 The poetry of Herbert Vaughan and Traherne represents an attempt to shape their lives and verse around the fact of divine presence and influence writes Sharon Seelig The relationship between belief and expression in these three metaphysical poets is the subject of this deeply perceptive study Each of these poets held to some extent the notion of dual reality of the world as indicative of a higher reality but their responses to this tradition vary greatly from the ongoing struggle between God and the poet of The Temple which finally transforms the materials of everyday life and worship to the more difficult unity of Silex Scintillans with its tension between illumination and resignation to the ecstatic proclamations of Thomas Traherne whose sense of divine reality at first seems so strong as to destroy the characteristic metaphysical tension between this world and the next Seelig's study proceeds from individual poems to the whole work exploring the relation of cosmology and religious experience to poetic form
