

EPIDEMIOLOGY: FINAL STUDY GUIDE

Equipoise

- Important issues in experimental studies / ethical considerations
- Equipoise: must be genuine doubt about efficacy of treatment, yet sufficient belief that it may work
- Stopping rules: what if it becomes apparent, before the trial is over, that the new treatment is beneficial (and should not be withheld from the placebo group) or is toxic (and treatment should be withdrawn)? The ethics of clinical research requires equipoise !!
- A state of genuine uncertainty on the part of the clinical investigator regarding the comparative therapeutic merits of each arm in a trial. Should the investigator discover that one treatment is of superior therapeutic merit, he or she is ethically obliged to offer that treatment.

Validity

- Internal validity
 - Do the observed results accurately reflect the true association?
- Generalizability / external validity
 - To whom can the results be applied
 - Requires internal validity
- Some important points
 - If a study lacks internal validity, it is irrelevant
 - We do not compromise internal validity in an effort to achieve external validity/generalizability

Reliability (Repeatability)

- Ability to repeat the same test and come up with the same diagnosis
- Factors that can affect reliability include:
 - Time of day
 - Environmental variations
 - Intra-subject variation
 - Variability in test results among the same individual(s)
 - Intra-observer
 - Variations occur between two or more readings of the same test results made by the same observer
 - Inter-observer variation
 - Variation in test results between two or more examiners

Confounding

- Occurs when an extrinsic factor is associated with a disease outcome &, independent of that association, is also associated with the exposure
- Occurs when the relationship between an exposure & disease outcome is influenced by the 3rd factor, which is related to both exposure & outcome, independent of this relationship
