

Inclusion of Older Adults in Clinical Research

- Older adults are underrepresented in clinical research
- Major identified barriers include:
 - Lack of federal guidelines and recruitment and retention techniques or infrastructure focused on older adults
 - Ageist biases and stereotypes
- Three key recommendations emerged:
 - Engage with policy making process to promote inclusion
 - Use Clinical and Translational Science Award Workgroup Presentation Materials Library and other resources to overcome ageism
 - Build institutional capacity to support age inclusion

Clinical Trials In Older Adults:

Clinical Trials in Older Adults Antonio Cherubini,Roberto Bernabei,Luigi Ferrucci,Niccolò Marchionni,Stephanie Studenski,Bruno Vellas,2015-09-28 Clinical Trials in Older Adults is the first book to consider the methodological issues underlying the evaluation of new treatments in older people Provides information on the methodology monitoring and regulations for those planning to conduct a clinical trials involving older adults Contains examples of ongoing trials involving older adults and presents the main characteristics of many recently published Depicts how the issues regarding older adults in clinical trials could be properly addressed with the appropriate study design and conduct Identifies key issues in performing clinical trials in older patients with common geriatric conditions i e Alzheimer s dementia depression low muscle mass cancer Clinical Trials and Older Adults ,2019 Clinical Trials in Older Adults Antonio Cherubini,Roberto Bernabei,Luigi Ferrucci,Niccolo Marchionni,Stephanie Studenski,Bruno Vellas,2016-01-13 Clinical Trials in Older Adults is the first book to consider the methodological issues underlying the evaluation of new treatments in older people Provides information on the methodology monitoring and regulations for those planning to conduct a clinical trials involving older adults Contains examples of ongoing trials involving older adults and presents the main characteristics of many recently published Depicts how the issues regarding older adults in clinical trials could be properly addressed with the appropriate study design and conduct Identifies key issues in performing clinical trials in older patients with common geriatric conditions i e Alzheimer s dementia depression low muscle mass cancer Investing in Clinical Trials for Older Adults Woojung Lee,2022 Conducting clinical trials for older adults can address the long standing issue of the underrepresentation of older adults and the lack of clinical evidence for them Examining the challenges and the value of such trials could facilitate discussion among trial sponsors on the investment in and the prioritization of older adult specific trials This dissertation examines the risk of failure and the real world value of older adult specific clinical trials In Chapter 1 we developed a model that predicts the risk of failure of older adult specific cancer clinical trials using trial level factors The best performing machine learning model had an acceptable performance and included nine trial level factors that can be measured using the trial protocol The model can aid in the design and prioritization of future older adult specific clinical trials Future works examining the causal relationship between the important factors the trial failure can help develop strategies to reduce the risk of failure of cancer trials for older adults In Chapter 2 we estimated the impact of cumulative evidence from older adult specific trials on the prescribing patterns using phase 3 clinical trials for post lumpectomy irradiation in early stage breast cancer ESBC as a case study The difference in differences analysis showed that older adult specific trial results led to a significant decrease in irradiation use over time among older adults and the rate of decrease was significantly accelerated by longer term follow up results These findings confirm the potential of new evidence for older adults to make a substantial change in providers prescription patterns and the importance of evidence accumulation in driving their behavioral change

Chapter 3 builds on this analysis to quantify the downstream clinical and economic benefits of older adult specific trial results using a health transition model We found that the older adult specific trial results on the post lumpectomy irradiation in ESBC resulted in a substantial cost saving in the US society without significantly changing clinical outcomes These results can inform the discussion around whether to invest in older adult specific clinical trials More case studies for trials with different types of results are warranted to have a more comprehensive understanding of how different types of older adult specific trials generate value
