Closing The Food Gap Resetting The Table In The Land Of Plenty:

Closing the Food Gap Mark Winne, 2008-01-15 This powerful call to arms offers a realistic vision for getting locally produced healthy food onto everyone's table blending a passion for sustainable living with compassion for the poor Dr Jane Goodall In Closing the Food Gap food activist and journalist Mark Winne poses questions too often overlooked in our current conversations around food What about those people who are not financially able to make conscientious choices about where and how to get food And in a time of rising rates of both diabetes and obesity what can we do to make healthier foods available for everyone To address these questions Winne tells the story of how America's food gap has widened since the 1960s when domestic poverty was rediscovered and how communities have responded with a slew of strategies and methods to narrow the gap including community gardens food banks and farmers markets The story however is not only about hunger in the land of plenty and the organized efforts to reduce it it is also about doing that work against a backdrop of ever growing American food affluence and gastronomical expectations With the popularity of Whole Foods and increasingly common community supported agriculture CSA wherein subscribers pay a farm so they can have fresh produce regularly the demand for fresh food is rising in one population as fast as rates of obesity and diabetes are rising in another Over the last three decades Winne has found a way to connect impoverished communities experiencing these health problems with the benefits of CSAs and farmers markets in Closing the Food Gap he explains how he came to his conclusions With tragically comic stories from his many years running a model food organization the Hartford Food System in Connecticut alongside fascinating profiles of activists and organizations in communities across the country Winne addresses head on the struggles to improve food access for all of us regardless of income level

The CQ Press Guide to Urban Politics and Policy in the United States Christine Kelleher Palus, Richardson Dilworth, 2016-02-11 The CQ Press Guide to Urban Politics and Policy in the United States will bring the CQ Press reference guide approach to topics in urban politics and policy in the United States If the old adage that all politics is local is even partially true then cities are important centers for political activity and for the delivery of public goods and services U S cities are diverse in terms of their political and economic development demographic makeup governance structures and public policies Yet there are some durable patterns across American cities too Despite differences in governance and or geographic size most cities face similar challenges in the management of public finances the administration of public safety and education And all U S cities have a similar legal status within the federal system This reference guide will help students understand how American cities from old to new have developed over time Part I how the various city governance structures allocate power across city officials and agencies Part II how civic and social forces interact with the organs of city government and organize to win control over these organs and or their policy outputs Part III and what patterns of public goods and services cities produce for their residents Part IV The thematic and narrative structure allows students to dip into a topic in urban politics for deeper historical and comparative context than would be possible in either an A to Z encyclopedia entry or in an urban studies course text

FEATURES Approximately 40 chapters organized in major thematic parts in one volume available in both print and electronic formats Front matter includes an Introduction by the Editors along with biographical backgrounds about the Editors and the Contributing Authors Back matter includes a compilation of relevant topical data or tabular presentation of major historical developments population growth size of city budgets etc or historical figures e g mayors a bibliographic essay and a detailed index Sidebars are provided throughout and chapters conclude with References Further Readings and Cross References to related chapters as links in the e version This Guide is a valuable reference on the topics in urban politics and policy in the United States The thematic and narrative structure allows researchers to dip into a topic in urban politics for a deeper historical and comparative context than would be possible in either an A to Z encyclopedia entry or in an urban studies course text

Stand Together or Starve Alone Mark Winne, 2017-11-16 The United States one of the world's wealthiest and resource richest nations has multiple food related problems declining food quality due to industrialization of its production obesity across all age groups and a surprisingly large number of households suffering from food insecurity These issues threaten to shorten the lives of many and significantly reduce the quality of life for millions of others This book explores the root causes of food related problems in the 20th and 21st centuries and explains why collective impact the social form of working together for a common goal needs to be employed to reach a successful resolution to hunger obesity and the challenges of the industrial food system Authored by Mark Winne a 45 year food activist the book begins with background information about the evolution of the U S food movement since the 1960s that documents its incredible growth and variety of interests organizations and sectors The subsequent sections demonstrate how these divergent interests have created a lack of unity and deterred real change and improvement Through examples from specific cities and states as well as a discussion of group dynamics and coalition building methods readers come away with an understanding of a complicated topic and grasp the potential of a number of strategies for creating more cohesion within the food movement and realizing meaningful improvements in our food system for current and future generations

Confronting Hunger in the USA Adam M. Pine, 2016-07-01 Food insecurity in the US is a critical issue that is experienced by approximately 15% of the population each year Hunger is not caused by an inability to produce enough food for the population but is instead a manifestation of federal agricultural policies that support the overproduction of commodity crops and neoliberal social policies that seek to lower the amount of benefits dispersed to those in need This book focuses on how four different food based community programs address both the physical sensation of hunger as well as the political and economic disempowerment that work against the ability of people experiencing food insecurity to mobilize as a political force Confronting Hunger in the USA argues that most food programs do more to create community among their volunteers than among program participants and tend to reinforce neoliberal understandings of citizenship Community food programs reach out to the most vulnerable members of society in caring and gentle ways and often use the language of alternative economies to articulate a different relationship between the individual and the state. However, the projects in this study act as individual pieces of the state's insufficient social safety net and are only beginning to articulate a new relationship between food and society. Philosophy Comes to Dinner Andrew Chignell, Terence Cuneo, Matthew C. Halteman, 2015-10-08. Everyone is talking about food. Chefs are celebrities. Locavore and freegan have earned spots in the dictionary. Popular books and films about food production and consumption are exposing the unintended consequences of the standard American diet. Questions about the principles and values that ought to guide decisions about dinner have become urgent for moral, ecological, and health-related reasons. In Philosophy Comes to Dinner, twelve philosophers, some leading voices, some inspiring new ones, join the conversation and consider issues ranging from the sustainability of modern agriculture to consumer complicity in animal exploitation to the pros and cons of alternative diets.

Nature's Entrepot Brian C. Black, Michael J. Chiarappa, 2024-02-20. In Nature's Entrepot, the contributors view the planning, expansion, and sustainability of the urban environment of Philadelphia from its inception to the present. The chapters explore the history of the city, its natural resources, and the early naturalists who would influence future environmental policy. They then follow Philadelphia's growing struggles with disease, sanitation, pollution, sewerage, transportation, population growth, and decline, and other byproducts of urban expansion. Later chapters examine efforts in the modern era to preserve animal populations, self-sustaining food supplies, functional landscapes, and urban planning and environmental activism. Philadelphia's place as an early seat of government and major American metropolis has been well documented by leading historians. Now Nature's Entrepot looks particularly to the human impact on this unique urban environment, examining its long history of industrial and infrastructure development, policy changes, environmental consciousness, and sustainability efforts that would come to influence not just this region but also the nation. Sacred Rituals and Humane Death Magfirah Dahlan, 2019-10-10. Sacred Rituals and Humane Death critically analyzes the civilizing nature of the underlying fundamental concept of humaneness in contemporary discourses around modern meat and animal ethics. As religious methods of animal slaughter, such as the halal method in Islam, as well as the practice of religious animal sacrifice, are sometimes categorized as barbaric, in recent debates the civilizing narrative of progress leads supposedly to more humane adaptation of methods and practices of animal curation and slaughter. This volume argues that the shift toward modern meat does not constitute a shift toward less pain and suffering as purported by supporters of contemporary methods, particularly mass agriculture. Rather, it is a shift in what is considered as acceptable versus unacceptable pain and suffering. In this work, the author analyzes the concealment and distancing that characterize modern meat production, uncovering the acceptable pain and suffering involved in these procedures heralded as progress and advocating for a retrieval of earlier tradition-bound practices rooted in religious, cultural, and ethical respect of animals and their important and sacred roles in sacrifice. Sharing Ecosystem Services Osamu Saito, 2019-08-09. Using the sharing paradigm as a guiding concept, this book demonstrates that sharing has much greater potential to make rural society resilient sustainable and inclusive through enriching all four sharing dimensions informal mediated communal and commercial sharing The chapters are divided into two parts one that focuses on case studies of the sharing ecosystem services in Japan the other on case studies from around the world including in the regions of Africa Asia Pacific South America and Europe Reflecting the recent growing attention to sharing concept and its application to economic and urban context this publication explores opportunities and challenges to build more resilient and sustainable society in harmony with nature by critical examination of sharing practices in rural landscapes and seascapes around the world This book introduces not only traditional communal and non market sharing practices in different rural areas but also new forms of sharing through integration of traditional practices and modern science and technologies Eat Where You Live: How to Find and Enjoy Local and Sustainable Food No Matter Where You Live ,2008 This refreshing how to guide is filled with easy to follow tips simple recipes informative interviews with farmers and of course tons of resources for finding cooking storing growing and enjoying tasty local food no matter where you live BOOK JACKET Disturbing Argument Catherine Palczewski,2015-01-30 This edited volume represents the best of the scholarship presented at the 18th National Communication Association American Forensic Association Conference on Argumentation This biennial conference brings together a lively group of argumentation scholars from a range of disciplinary approaches and a variety of countries Disturbing Argument contains selected works that speak both to the disturbing prevalence of violence in the contemporary world and to the potential of argument itself to disturb the very relations of power that enable that violence Scholars essays analyze a range of argument forms including body and visual argument interpersonal and group argument argument in electoral politics public argument argument in social protest scientific and technical argument and argument and debate pedagogy Contributors study argument using a range of methodological approaches from social scientifically informed studies of interpersonal group and political argument to humanistic examinations of argument theory political discourse and social protest to creatively informed considerations of argument practices that truly disturb the boundaries of what we consider argument
