Casa Del Colonnato Toscanico Ad Ercolano:

Houses and Society in Pompeii and Herculaneum Andrew Wallace-Hadrill, 2022-05-10 Few sources reveal the life of the ancient Romans as vividly as do the houses preserved by the eruption of Vesuvius. Wealthy Romans lavished resources on shaping their surroundings to impress their crowds of visitors. The fashions they set were taken up and imitated by ordinary citizens. In this illustrated book, Andrew Wallace Hadrill explores the rich potential of the houses of Pompeii and Herculaneum to offer new insights into Roman social life. Exposing misconceptions derived from contemporary culture, he shows the close interconnection of spheres we take as discrete: public and private, family and outsiders, work and leisure. Combining archaeological evidence with Roman texts and comparative material from other cultures, Wallace Hadrill raises a range of new questions: How did the organization of space and the use of decoration help to structure social encounters between owner and visitor, man and woman, master and slave? What sort of households did the inhabitants of the Roman house form? How did the world of work relate to that of entertainment and leisure? How widely did the luxuries of the rich spread among the houses of craftsmen and shopkeepers? Through analysis of the remains of over two hundred houses, Wallace Hadrill reveals the remarkably dynamic social environment of early imperial Italy and the vital part that houses came to play in defining what it meant to live as a Roman.

Houses in Herculaneum Richard de Kind, 2024-04-02 In this study, a new view is given on the city plan of ancient Herculaneum by combining the evidence from the ancient writers, the 19th century explorations, and the analysis of the measurements of the excavated house blocks (insulae). Furthermore, it contains a detailed examination of the southernmost insulae III and IV with surprising results. First of all, the allotment of these two insulae is made visible, which gives way to a discussion about the division of land in pre-Roman Campania. Furthermore, the author distinguishes some new types of houses which differ from the already known atrium buildings.

The World of Pompeii Peder Foss, John J. Dobbins, 2009-06-02 This well-illustrated volume, written by experts, is an all-embracing survey of The World of Pompeii, the town of Herculaneum, and the many urban and rural villas.

Wooden Furniture in Herculaneum Stephan T.A.M. Mols, 2020-03-02 This study presents an overview of the wooden furniture that has come to light since the rediscovery of Herculaneum in the 18th century, with an emphasis on the form, function, and the techniques employed. The combination of comments in the excavation reports with the information derived from the surviving pieces of furniture and fittings made of other materials, as well as indications for the presence of furniture in the architecture and decoration of the houses, offers a representative idea of the role of wooden furniture in the interior arrangements of the houses at Herculaneum.
