Pendlebury, John Grimley Evans, 2016 This new addition to the Oxford Case Histories series is a specialty based collection of geratology cases Based around the specialist training curriculum for geriatrics Oxford Case Histories in Geriatric Medicine covers the presentation management and treatment of illness in older people and relevant social and ethical issues Ethical Dimensions of Geriatric Care S.F. Spicker, S.R. Ingman, Ian Lawson, 2012-12-06 There is both a timeliness and a transcendent rightness in the fact that scholars clinicians and health professionals are beginning to examine the ethics based components of decision making in health care of the elderly Ethics as the discipline concerned with right or wrong conduct and moral duty pervades hospital rooms nursing home corridors physicians offices and the halls of Congress as decisions are made that concern the allocation of health related services to individuals and groups in need In particular care of older persons recently has received disproportionate attention in discussions of ethics and clinical care Age alone of course should not generate special focus on ill individuals about whom concerns arise based on value conflicts tacitly involved in the delivery of health care Having said that age is not the principal criterion for attention to ethics based concerns in health care it must be acknowledged that old people have a high prevalence of conditions that provoke interest and put them in harm s way if value conflicts are not identified and seriously addressed Issues that concern autonomy the allocation of scarce resources inter generational competition and conflict the withholding of treatment in treatable disease and substitute and proxy decision making for the cognitively impaired all have special relevance for older persons
