Writing and Speaking in the Technology Professions David F. Beer, 2003-07-04 An updated edition of the classic guide to technical communication Consider that 20 to 50 percent of a technology professional s time is spent communicating with others Whether writing a memo preparing a set of procedures or making an oral presentation effective communication is vital to your professional success This anthology delivers concrete advice from the foremost experts on how to communicate more effectively in the workplace The revised and expanded second edition of this popular book completely updates the original providing authoritative guidance on communicating via modern technology in the contemporary work environment Two new sections on global communication and the Internet address communicating effectively in the context of increased e mail and web usage As in the original David Beer s Second Edition discusses a variety of approaches such as Writing technical documents that are clear and effective Giving oral presentations more confidently Using graphics and other visual aids judiciously Holding productive meetings Becoming an effective listener The new edition also includes updated articles on working with others to get results and on giving directions that work Each article is aimed specifically at the needs of engineers and others in the technology professions and is written by a practicing engineer or a technical communicator Technical engineers IEEE society members and technical writing teachers will find this updated edition of David Beer s classic Writing and Speaking in the Technology Professions an invaluable guide to successful communication

Technical Communication and the World Wide Web Carol Lipson, Michael Day, 2005-05-06 Over the past decade the World Wide Web has dramatically changed the face of technical communication but the teaching of writing has thus far altered very little to accommodate this rapidly changing context Technical Communication and the World Wide Web offers substantial and broadly applicable strategies for teaching global communication issues affecting writing for the World Wide Web Editors Carol Lipson and Michael Day have brought together an exceptional group of experienced and well known teacher scholars to develop this unique volume addressing technical communication education The chapters here focus specifically on curriculum issues and the teaching of technical writing for the World Wide Web contributing a blend of theory and practice in proposing changes in curriculum and pedagogy Contributors offer classroom examples that teachers at all levels of experience can adapt for their own classes The volume provides comprehensive coverage of the technical communication curriculum from the two year level to the graduate level from service courses to degree programs This volume is an important and indispensable resource for technical writing educators and it will serve as an essential reference for curriculum and pedagogy development in technical communication programs Exploding Technical Communication

Remley Dirk, Charles Sides, 2020-04-29 Within the framework of New Literacy Studies Dirk Remley presents a historical study of how technical communication practices at a World War II arsenal sponsored literacy within the community in which it operated from 1940 to 1960 and contemporary implications of similar forms of sponsorship The Training within Industry TWI methods developed by the U S government and industry at that time included multimodal literate practices particularly combinations of visual oral experiential and print linguistic text Analyses reveal a hierarchy in which print linguistic literacies were generally esteemed at the workplace and in the community This literacy hierarchy contributed to a catastrophic accident that killed 11 people prompting changes in the approach to designing certain training documents This book links technical communication especially the multimodal forms of representation commonly found in technical communication and instructional materials to the concept of literacy sponsorship The TWI methods used in training and system improvement during World War II are currently applied in business and industry as part of the lean operating and continuous improvement philosophies These methods have also become part of the experiential learning philosophy favored in academia Remley includes examples of current applications of multimodal forms of technical communication similar to those used at the arsenal as well as new media related applications related to training and instruction He also discusses their implications for literacy sponsorship This book provides useful information for technical communication and literacy scholars and educators as well as practical case studies for business leaders consultants and practitioners Intended Audience Scholars in technical communication and literacy writing studies scholars in business especially management and organizational analysis and business communication consultants scholars in history and sociology

Rethinking Post-Communist Rhetoric Kirk St.Amant,, Pavel Zemliansky,2016-04-08 This collection examines the forces and factors affecting rhetoric writing and communication expectations in the nations of the former Soviet Union and the Eastern Bloc The entries in this collection focus on four interconnected topics or contexts influencing rhetorical expectations and writing practices in these countries The four contexts are 1 the dynamics of the educational settings in which students learn about the relationships between rhetoric and writing 2 the professional environments in which students will apply their knowledge of rhetoric and writing upon completing their formal studies 3 the greater global context that affects the teaching of rhetoric and writing as connected to educational institutions becoming part of a larger and more integrated global community and 4 the factors and perceptions that affect how students apply and or expand their foundations in rhetoric and writing to communicate effectively across different forms of media By approaching ideas of rhetoric writing and communication from the perspective of these four areas this collection provides readers with a broad foundation for understanding the various overarching and interlocking contexts that affect perceptions of and practices involving communication practices and expectations in the former Eastern Bloc Additionally this approach provides researchers teachers and students with ideas and approaches that can be used to more effectively engage both with this topic area and with individuals from these nations
