Cry My Beloved Africa Essays On The Postcolonial Aura In Africa:

Cry my Beloved Africa Peter Vakunta, 2008-07-15 Cry My Beloved Africa is a compendium of essays having as locus the continent of Africa. It comprises insightful observations on the politics, governmental systems, political economy, cultural practices, educational systems, and natural phenomena that impact on the lives of Africans. True to the tradition of French novelist Stendhal, the author intends this work to serve as a mirror that reflects the day to day living of the different peoples that inhabit the fifty-three nation states in Africa. It is directed to contemporary Africa and to the relationship between Africa and the rest of the globe. The didactic value of the book resides in its suitability to the young and the old. The language is clear and free of sophistry.

Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel Peter Wuteh Vakunta, 2023-09-30 Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel is a treatise on the problematics of language choice in Europhone African literature. Vakunta's research is rooted in the notion that the postcolonial African fiction writer is at a crossroads of languages groping for linguistic re-orientation. Using the prose of fiction of Patrice Nganang, Ahmadou Kourouma, Mercedes Fouda, Nazi Boni, and Gabriel K Fonkou as corpus, he contends that postcolonial African fiction is an offshoot of a linguistic tinkering process that enables writers to tinker with the language of the ex-colonizer in a deliberate attempt to divest indigenous writing of its hegemonic vestiges.

Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel Peter W. Vakunta, 2011 Indigenization of Language in the African Francophone Novel: A New Literary Canon discusses the question of indigenization in the African Francophone novel. Analyzing the prose narratives of Nazi Boni, Ahmadou Kourouma, and Patrice Nganang, this book contends that African literature written in European languages is primarily a creative translation process. Recourse to European languages as a medium of expressing African imagination, worldview, and cultures in fictional writing poses problems of intelligibility. Developed to express and reflect Western worldviews and sensibilities, European languages are employed by African writers to convey messages that seem to be at variance with European imagination. These writers find themselves writing in languages they wish to subvert through the technique of literary indigenization. The significance of this study resides in its raising awareness to the hurdles that literary creativity in a polyglossic context may present to readers and translators. This book provides answers to intriguing questions centering on the problematic of translation in contemporary African literature. It is a contribution to current research aimed at unraveling the conundrum surrounding the language question in African Europhone fiction, particularly the cultural functions of translation in literature. Potential translation problems have to be addressed in order to make African literature written in European languages intelligible to global readership. With the advent of globalization, transcultural communication has become an activity of enormous importance to the international community. It is a subject of great interest to translators, linguists, language instructors, and literary theorists.

Camfranglais: The Making of a New Language in Cameroonian Literature Wuteh Vakunta, 2014-07-17 This study raises awareness to the emergence of a new genre in world literature: hybridized literature. It rejects the assumption according to which literatures written in less commonly taught languages should be subsumed into one universally accessible global idiom. Instead, Vakunta challenges literary scholars and readers of literature to regard untranslatability as the key to cross-cultural engagement. The book's multiple approaches and innumerable sources generate complex interdisciplinary connections and provide an excellent introduction to a complex literary phenomenon alien to literati resident outside the officially bilingual multicultural and multilingual Republic of Cameroon.

The Mandates of the Church Rich Ayo Adekoya, 2015-06-29 In this thought-provoking and momentous book, the author poses the questions: what is the role of the church in our society and should there be any relationship between the state and the church for the development of the society and what could be the effect of such collaboration if there is any? In asking on what bases is the church getting involved with the society, he explores both the Biblical foundations and three major theories that have emerged about societies and social behaviour. Particular attention is paid to the relationship between religion and social change to the case of the church in Lagos, Nigeria, as an agent of social and political change in society. Using a thematic structure, Richard Adekoya illustrates different roles the church can play in society, especially in a democratic milieu, for example, humanity services, educational development, spiritual and moral development, and social and ethical development. He examines the various contributions of the churches in Nigeria, right from the missionaries era to the contemporary dispensation. The book basically proved that the church mandate is not limited to its evangelical obligations. Its involvement in many aspects of people's lives in society, particularly the social and political aspects, is part of its cultural mandate. This is a challenging book, rich in example and wide-ranging in scope, with key ideas that so often appear impossible for the church to practice: employment, generation, political leadership, public enlightenment, tackling corruption in the polity, here, practically, seem possible. Richard Adekoya's excellent work tackles this set of issues in a very thorough way. By looking at the issues through the lens of the Bible, church history, and sociological analysis, he makes a powerful theological case for the involvement of the church in the societies in which it finds itself called to give a witness. Understandably and helpfully, there is a particular emphasis on Nigeria, a nation which he knows well. By choosing Nigeria as a kind of case history, the broader general case is given a particular and penetrating illustration that strengthens his wider argument.

The Life and Times of a Cameroonian Icon: Tribute to Lapiro De Mbanga Ngata Man Wuteh Vakunta, 2014-05-02 This book is the celebration of one man's vendetta against a cancerous regime that thrives on the rape of democracy and human rights abuses. Lapiro de Mbanga, born Lambo Sandjo Pierre Roger on April 7, 1957, was a conduit for social change. He fought for change in his homeland and died fighting for change in Cameroon. Lapiro believed in the innate goodness of man but also had the conviction that absolute power corrupts absolutely. He was noted for contending that power creates monsters. His entire musical career was devoted to fighting the cause of the downtrodden in Cameroon. He composed satirical songs on the socio-economic dysphonia in his beleaguered country. In his songs he articulated the daily travails of the man in the street and the government orchestrated injustices he witnessed As a songwriter Lapiro de Mbanga distinguished himself from his peers through bravado valiance and the courage to say overtly what many a Cameroonian musician would only mumble in the privacy of their homes Lapiro's anti establishment music led to his arrest and imprisonment in September 2009 for three years Released from prison on April 8 2011 he was later given political asylum by the USA On September 2 2012 Lapiro relocated with some members of his family to Buffalo in New York where he died on March 16 2014 after an illness His revolutionary music and fighting spirit live on A Nation at Risk Peter Wuteh Vakunta,2012 A Nation at Risk A Personal Narrative of the Cameroonian Crisis should be construed as a requiem for what used to be known as the Republic of Cameroon The overriding objective of this book is to shine the searchlight on the dysfunctional government of Cameroon under President Paul Biya a minuscule man and matching mind endowed with a gargantuan ego Those who wish to comprehend the apocalypse toward which the Cameroonian nation has been propelled by the rogue government of Mr Biya would do well to study the minds of the men at the helm Mr Biya and his henchmen enjoy playing at and for power The politics of power is for them an act of intellectual masturbation Even the diabolism inherent in the phenomenon of power is something they relish In Nation at Risk Peter Wuteh Vakunta a prolific writer in his own right has successfully pieced together a compelling narrative of the many facets of the crisis that has plagued Cameroon during the more than three decade presidency of Mr Paul Biya Lucid and captivating this landmark volume provides a seminal contribution to readers appreciation of the social political economic and cultural events that have shaped Cameroon's history from the time of independence from colonial masters to date Vakunta's penetrating analysis of the lackluster governmental modus operandi of President Biya is a must read for all Cameroonians and friends of Cameroon who feel deeply about the future of this often forgotten African nation Dr Peter Ngwafu Ajongwa Associate Professor

Vakunta: Dissent: The Highest Stage of Patriotism ,2023-06-27 Dissent The Highest Stage of Patriotism is a treatise on dissent as the acme of love for one's fatherland Arguing against the grain the author avoids smug patriotism that which manages to make everything about the homeland flawless and beautiful It is the author's conviction that the greatness of a nation resides not in citizens blind sycophancy but rather in their willingness to call into question dereliction of duty by political leadership The goal of this book is to educate global citizens on the quintessence of political vigilance The African Book Publishing Record ,2008 Bibliographic Index ,2010
