

world of nature, we see contrasts and paradoxes that help us appreciate each side by comparison. Examples of these contrasts are summer and winter, wealth and poverty, high mountains and deep valleys. If we were never to see a dark night, how could we appreciate the beauty of daylight? The idea is not to seek out suffering; it is rather to acknowledge and understand it and accept the fact that suffering is a natural part of life in spite of our efforts to avoid it.

Some people cannot accept unhappiness and resort to artificial means to try to find happiness. In a consumer society in which people are overindulged and overmedicated to restore their comfort levels, feeling unhappy may lead some people to resort to alcohol or stimulants. There are drugs that are called drugs of “lifestyle.” These are designed and marketed to respond to changes in lifestyle and discontentment. Science has invented a variety of drugs to improve our lifestyle. For example, there are drugs to stop smoking, to reduce weight, to prevent hair loss, to enhance athletes’ performance, to prevent gambling or drug addiction, or to increase sexual functioning. We can be reconstructed from nose to toes to improve our appearance. Such phenomena show how much we rely on external interventions to remedy our internal emptiness and discontentment.

The results of a survey of 644 Harvard University alumni showed that 40 percent of the alumni were not content with their life, despite an academic degree from a world-class university and an average annual income of $300,000.⁸ Clearly, material prosperity is not by itself the key to enduring contentment.

FINDING MEANING IN SUFFERING

Finding a meaning and purpose in life crises and adversity may not eradicate pain—regardless of whether the pain is physical or psychological—but some research shows that having a sense of meaning will mitigate the impact of pain on a person and will make it more bearable. Viktor Frankl, a Viennese psychiatrist who survived the Auschwitz concentration camp, wrote the following account after his release from the camp.

One day an elderly general practitioner came to Dr. Frankl’s office for help. The man had been very depressed since the loss of his beloved wife two years earlier. He listened to this patient and wondered what solution he could offer. He couldn’t revive the patient’s wife, nor could he change

Creative Dimensions Of Suffering Creative Dimensions Of Suffering:

Creative Dimensions of Suffering A. M. Ghadirian, 2009 Creative Dimensions of Suffering is an intriguing combination of psychiatry and spirituality that illustrates the power of creativity to treat suffering. An examination of the lives of many famous artists who suffered including Van Gogh, Tchaikovsky and Beethoven gives insight into how they dealt with their adversity through creativity. Dr. Ghadirian explores how various conditions such as alcoholism, depression, bipolar disorder and dementia can influence a person's creative impulse and how creativity and spirituality can help a person deal with trauma. He describes the courage of many other well-known figures such as Helen Keller and Christopher Reeve who were able to overcome their suffering and emerge victorious over daunting odds. Finally drawing on principles found in the teachings of the Baha'i Faith, Ghadirian attempts to explain suffering, its place in human society and how it can lead us to a closer, happier relationship with God as well as a better relationship with ourselves and with others. Indeed many of those who have suffered the most have found new meaning through adversity and have emerged victorious. Creative Dimensions of Suffering Abdu'l-Missagh Ghadirian, 2009 The Creative Suffering of the Triune God Gloria L. Schaab, 2007-10-18 The global reality of suffering and death has always demanded an authentic theological response and impelled debate concerning God's relationship to suffering as well as the conceivability of the suffering of God. The scope and impact of this suffering in the last century have driven this debate to an acute pitch demanding to know how one can speak rightly of God in view of the suffering that is inherent and inflicted in the cosmos. While in former ages some looked to an omnipotent and impassible deus ex machina in answer to this question, many contemporary theologians have revised their understanding of God in relation to the world. With these theologians Gloria Schaab proposes that a viable response to cosmic suffering is the recognition that the triune Christian God participates in the very sufferings of the cosmos itself. She sets her argument within theology and science dialogue and specifically within the work of scientist-theologian Arthur Peacocke. Informed by the understandings of evolutionary science grounded within a panentheistic paradigm of the God-world relationship and rooted within the Christian theological tradition, this work contends that the understanding of the Triune God as intimately involved with the suffering of the cosmos is viable and efficacious in view of the suffering of the cosmos and its creatures. It develops a female procreative model of the creative suffering of the Triune God, an ecological ethics based on the midwife model of care and a pastoral model of threefold differentiation of suffering in God as steps toward Christian praxis in response to the mystery of God within the pain, suffering and death of cosmic existence and human experience. The Universe Within Us Jane E. Harper, 2009 A provocative look at the purpose of life through a mixture of religion, science and personal experience. Life at First Sight Phyllis Edgerly Ring, 2009 Phyllis Ring divulges in this collection of personal essays how to see the spiritual in everyday moments and everyday life. Like love at first sight, life at first sight focuses on instant recognition and irresistible attraction, a sense of something mysteriously familiar and a sense of spiritual connection. The essays show how to develop a new sense of being during daily activities and everyday interactions as well as through engagement with the natural world As a jumping off point for spiritual conversation these compositions offer food for thought on how to lead a more spiritual life

Book jacket Illumine My Family, 2009 Illumine My Family is a collection of prayers and meditative passages from the writings of the Baha i Faith that will help any family wishing to incorporate spirituality into their daily lives The passages included offer guidance and prayers on subjects relevant to any family regardless of their background or current circumstances Subjects covered include marriage parents motherhood children love healing the loss of a loved one and more The book has been put together with the hope that it will assist families to grow together and to foster strong relationships with each other and God Creative Complex Systems Kazuo Nishimura, Masatoshi Murase, Kazuyoshi

Yoshimura, 2021-10-26 In recent years problems such as environmental and economic crises and pandemics caused by new viruses have been occurring on a global scale Globalization brings about benefits but it can increase the potential risks of systemic problems leading to system wide disruptions The coronavirus pandemic declared on March 11 2020 by the World Health Organization has revealed social disparities in the form of a higher risk of death for people of low socioeconomic status and has caused massive destruction of the economy and of globalization itself Extensive efforts to cope with these challenges have often led to the emergence of additional problems due to the chain of hidden causation What can be done to protect against such emerging challenges Despite the resulting complexity once these individual problems are considered as different aspects of a single whole seemingly contradictory issues can become totally understandable as they can be integrated into a single coherent framework This is the integrationist approach in contrast to the reductionist approach Situations of this kind are truly relevant to understanding the question What are creative complex systems This book features contributions by members and colleagues of the Kyoto University International Research Unit of Integrated Complex System Science It broadens our outlook from the traditional view of stability in which global situations are eventually stabilized after the impact of destruction to creative complex systems Chapter 1 David Pines and Me is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International License via link springer.com Heart of the Redeemer Timothy

Terrance O'Donnell, Timothy T. O'Donnell, 1992 Heart of the Redeemer Timothy O'Donnell, 2017-11-07 In this revised updated edition of Heart of the Redeemer Timothy O'Donnell synthesizes years of research to provide a thorough presentation of devotion to the Sacred Heart of Jesus He examines the doctrinal roots of the devotion in Scripture and in documents from the Apostolic and Patristic Ages charts its growth and development through the Middle Ages explains the enormous contribution of St Margaret Mary Alacoque and presents magisterial teaching on the subject including statements from Vatican Council II recent popes and the Catechism of the Catholic Church The book also includes images illustrating the development of the devotion Devotion to the Sacred Heart is a response to the tremendous love of Christ as symbolized by his human heart pierced on Calvary At the core of Catholic spiritual life the devotion is a key to effective renewal of the Church and the world Those who have not yet embraced this devotion or who want to understand it more deeply and practice it more fully will discover its profound richness and beauty in Heart of the Redeemer Goethe, Nietzsche, and Wagner

T. K. Seung, 2006-03-27 The author reads Goethe's Faust as the first epic written under Spinoza's influence He shows how its thematic development is governed by Spinoza's pantheistic naturalism He further contends that Wagner and Nietzsche have tried to surpass their mentor Goethe's work by writing their own Spinozan epics of love and power in The Ring of the Nibelung and Thus Spoke Zarathustra These Spinozan epics are designed to succeed the Christian epics in the Western literary tradition Whereas the Christian epics dared to groom human beings for their destiny in the supernatural world the Spinozan epics try to reinstate humanity as the children of Mother Nature and overcome their alienation from the natural world which had been dictated by the long reign of Christianity However it has been well noted that none of these new epics seems to hang together thematically as a coherent work By his Spinozan reading the author not only demonstrates the thematic unity of each of them singly but further illustrates their thematic relation with each other
