Reading the Modern European Novel since 1900 Daniel R. Schwarz, 2018-03-14 An exploration of the modern European novel from a renowned English literature scholar. Reading the Modern European Novel since 1900 is an engaging in-depth examination of the evolution of the modern European novel. Written in Daniel R. Schwarz's precise and highly readable style, this critical study offers compelling discussions on a wide range of major works since 1900 and examines recurring themes within the context of significant historical events including both World Wars and the Holocaust. The author cites important developments in the evolution of the modern novel and explores how these paradigmatic works of fiction reflect intellectual and cultural history including developments in painting and cinema. Schwarz focuses on narrative complexity, thematic subtlety, and formal originality as well as how novels render historical events and cultural developments. Discussing major works by Proust, Camus, Mann, Kafka, Grass, Di Lampedusa, Bassani, Kertész, Pamuk, Kundera, Saramago, Müller, and Ferrante, Schwarz explores how these often experimental masterworks pay homage to their major predecessors discussed in Schwarz's ground-breaking Reading the European Novel to 1900, even while proposing radical departures from realism in their approach to time and space, their testing the limits of language, and their innovative ways of rendering the human psyche. Written for teachers and students by a highly acclaimed scholar and including valuable study questions, Reading the Modern European Novel since 1900 offers a guide for a deeper understanding of how these original modern masters respond to both the past and present

Re-Entering Old Spaces Aleksandra Nikčević-Batricević, 2016-05-11 This book is a product of the XI International Conference on English Language and Literary Studies held in Montenegro in 2014. The old spaces were taken as a metaphorical tool for reintroducing a wide range of established topics with new approaches.

Space was thus understood as physical mechanical continuous linear as measurable and symbolic as subjective and relational and as aesthetic It was found on maps in architecture on theatre stages in books in hearts in one's identity in time and in theses and theories from the Aristotelian topos to Einstein's construct of space time Therefore the means of travel to these spaces and the forms the journeys take are also multifarious However so are the discursive strategies and their limitations when it comes to presenting the journeys and their destinations The contributors to this volume represent a range of nationalities and present research that either follows in the footsteps of other authors in a literal or secondary literary journey to real geographical places or observes the universal literary and old theoretical issues through new critical lenses Indeed they are often on both roads witnessing how inextricable human efforts are to finding identifying and aestheticising oneself in relation to a particular space Their contributions to this book expose how spaces were created and recreated through writing and symbolical representations in general They also show how the images of these spaces have been changing in consent to the intentions of their visitors and reveal that persistent and obstinate moment in a space that despite or in spite of changing perspectives itself refuses to be changed The book will encourage for further contributions to this expanding field in the humanities In their numerous and distinct ways the contributions to this particular book maintain that understanding how spaces are conceived and conceptualised is of pronounced importance in the globalized world in which cultures are gradually losing authenticities while their spaces geographical tourist spiritual literary aesthetic are as reflective of the visitors as they are of the hosts

Others Joseph Hillis Miller, 2021-01-12 This volume fulfills the author's career long reflections on radical otherness in literature J Hillis Miller investigates otherness through ten nineteenth and twentieth century authors Friedrich Schlegel Charles Dickens George Eliot Anthony Trollope Joseph Conrad W B Yeats E M Forster Marcel Proust Paul de Man and Jacques Derrida From the exquisite close readings for which he is celebrated Miller reaps a capacious understanding of otherness one reachable not through theory but through literature itself Otherness has wide valence in contemporary literary and cultural studies and is often understood as a misconception by hegemonic groups of subaltern ones In a pleasing counter to this Others conceives of otherness as something that inhabits sameness Instances of the wholly other within the familiar include your sense of self or your beloved your sense of your culture as such or your experience of literary theoretical and philosophical works that belong to your own culture works that are themselves haunted by otherness Though Others begins and ends with chapters on theorists the testimony they offer about otherness is not taken as more compelling than that of such literary works as Dickens's Our Mutual Friend Conrad's The Secret Sharer Yeats's Cold Heaven or Proust's Remembrance of Things Past Otherness as this book finds it in the writers' read is not an abstract concept It is an elusive feature of specific verbal constructs different in each case It can be glimpsed only through close readings that respect this diversity as the plural in the title Others indicates We perceive otherness in the way that the unseen and the characters' emotional responses to it ripples the conservative ideological surface of Howard's End We sense it as chaos in

Schlegel's radical concept of irony And we gaze at it in the multiple personifications of Heart of Darkness Each testifies in its own way to the richness and tangible weight of an otherness close at hand
