Cervical Cancer From Etiology To Prevention Cancer Prevention Cancer Causes:

Cervical Cancer: From Etiology to Prevention Thomas E. Rohan, Keerti V. Shah, 2006-04-11 The last few years have seen enormous progress in terms of our understanding of the etiology and pathogenesis of cervical cancer particularly with respect to the role of human papillomaviruses and this has opened up new avenues for prevention Additionally there have been further refinements of existing technologies for cervical cancer control To read about the state of the art on cervical cancer health professionals have to locate individual articles and reviews of specific topics In recognition of this we propose to produce a book that will bring together in one place reviews of the contribution of descriptive and analytical epidemiological research to our understanding of cervical cancer etiology as well as research on the application of that knowledge plus knowledge gained from basic science investigations to prevention through screening chemoprevention and vaccine development The proposed book will include authoritative reviews by scientists working on the disciplines that are pertinent to the topic of the epidemiology and prevention of cervical cancer Journal of the National Cancer Institute

Handbook of Health Promotion and Disease Prevention James M. Raczynski, Ralph J. DiClemente, 2013-11-11 The idea for this volume developed when we were co-teaching our introductory master's level course in the Department of Health Behavior at the UAB School of Public Health a core course for all masters of public health students in the school regardless of the department in which they enrolled or the focus of their studies Hence in the course we sought to provide both students in our department as well as those who might not ever again take a health behavior course with an overview that would both truly represent the field and substantially provide educational research and public health practice benefits This was and continues to be a challenge with the diversity of students specializing in fields that include not only health behavior but also biostatistics environmental health sciences epidemiology health care organization and policy international health and maternal and child health The course that we taught attempted to provide the students with an overview of some of the important health promotion and disease prevention theories methods and policy issues while reviewing applications of these theories and methods to promoting health and preventing disease through a variety of channels for a variety of disease outcomes and among a variety of populations Since no one text provided this variety of readings we depended on readings and guest lectures
