City Of Thorns Nine Lives In The Worlds Largest Refugee Camp:

City of Thorns Ben Rawlence, 2016-01-05 Originally published in Great Britain by Portobello Books City of Thorns Ben Rawlence, 2016-01-05 Finalist for the Dayton Literary Peace Prize Named a Best of Book of the Year by The Economist and Foreign Affairs Los Angeles Times Book Prize Finalist The Dadaab refugee camp is many things to the charity workers it is a humanitarian crisis to the Kenyan government a nursery for terrorists to the Western media a dangerous no go area But to its half a million residents it is their last resort Situated hundreds of miles from any other settlement deep within the inhospitable desert of northern Kenya where only thorn bushes grow Dadaab is a city like no other Its buildings are made from mud sticks or plastic Its entire economy is grey And its citizens survive on rations and luck Over the course of four years Ben Rawlence became a firsthand witness to a strange and desperate place getting to know many of those who had come seeking sanctuary Among them are Guled a former child soldier who lives for football Nisho who scrapes an existence by pushing a wheelbarrow and dreaming of riches Tawane the indomitable youth leader and Kheyro a student whose future hangs upon her education In City of Thorns Rawlence interweaves the stories of nine individuals to show what life is like in the camp sketching the wider political forces that keep the refugees trapped Lucid vivid and illuminating City of Thorns is an urgent human story with deep international repercussions brought to life through the people who call Dabaab home

Refugees in Extended Exile Jennifer Hyndman, Wenona Giles, 2016-10-04 This book argues that the international refugee regime and its temporary humanitarian interventions have failed Most refugees across the globe live in protracted conditions that extend from years to decades without legal status that allows them to work and establish a home It is contended that they become largely invisible to people based in the global North and cease to remain fully human subjects with access to their political lives Shifting the conversation away from the salient discourse of solutions and technical fixes within state centric international relations the authors recover the subjectivity lost for those stuck in extended exile The book first argues that humanitarian assistance to refugees remains vital to people's survival even after the emergency phase is over It then connects asylum politics in the global North with the intransigence of extended exile in the global South By placing the urgent crises of protracted exile within a broader constellation of power relations both historical and geographical the authors present research and empirical findings gleaned from refugees in Iran Kenya and Canada and from humanitarian and government workers Each chapter reveals patterns of power circulating through the colonial present Cold War legacies and the global war on terror Seeking to render legible the more quotidian struggles and livelihoods of people who find themselves defined as refugees this book will be of great interest to international humanitarian agencies as well as migration and refugee researchers including scholars in refugee studies and human displacement human security globalization immigration and human rights Refugees and Forced Migration in the Horn and Eastern Africa

Johannes Dragsbaek Schmidt, Leah Kimathi, Michael Omondi Owiso, 2019-05-13 This volume sheds new light on the refugees and forced migration at the Horn of Africa and East Africa Adopting a multidisciplinary perspective it traces historical structural and geopolitical factors to reveal the often brutal uprooting of people in a region that hosts more than three million refugees and almost six million internally displaced persons IDPs By doing so it enriches our understanding of the socio economic geopolitical and humanitarian causes and implications of migration and population displacement The book is divided into five parts focusing on different drivers of involuntary displacement and people s uprooting The first part covers geopolitical conflicts rooted partly in the colonial and Cold War geographies The second part then focuses on security aspects and conflicts while the third looks at encampment and refugee policies as well as refugee agencies Part four highlights issues of forced repatriation and human trafficking Lastly part five analyzes the dynamics of refugee camps

Shackled Rebecca A. Sharpless, 2024-01-16 A rare look at the brute force mechanics of deportation in the United States In December 2017 U S immigration authorities shackled and abused 92 African refugees for two days while attempting to deport them by plane to Somalia When national media broke the story government officials lied about what happened Shackled tells the story of this harrowing failed deportation the resulting class action litigation and two men s search for safety in the United States over the course of three long years Through Abdulahi s and Sa id s firsthand accounts immigration lawyer Rebecca A Sharpless brings to life the harsh consequences of the U S deportation system and how racism and anti Blackness operate within it Sharpless follows the money that ICE funnels into local jails private contractors and charter jets exposing a sprawling system of immigration enforcement that detains and abuses noncitizens at scale Woven with the wider context of Abdulahi s and Sa id s stories this immigration odyssey reveals disturbing truths about Somalia asylum and the U S court system Shackled will galvanize readers attorneys activists policymakers and scholars alike to call out and dismantle this brutal infrastructure

Composing Aid Oliver Shao, 2023-09-12 Music and arts initiatives are often praised for their capacity to aid in the rehabilitation of refugees However it is crucial to recognize that this celebratory view can also mask the unequal power dynamics involved in regulating forced migration In Composing Aid Oliver Shao turns a critical ear towards the United Nations run Kakuma Refugee Camp in Kenya one of the largest and oldest encampments in the world This politically engaged ethnography delves into various cultural practices including hip hop shows traditional dances religious ceremonies and NGO events in an urbanized borderland area beset with precarity and inequality How do songs intersect with the politics of belonging in a space controlled by state and humanitarian forces Why do camp authorities support certain musical activities over others What can performing artists teach us about the inequities of the international refugee regime Offering a provocative contribution to ethnomusicological methods through its focus on activist research Composing Aid elucidates the powerful role of music and the arts in reproducing contesting and reimaging the existing migratory order

Refugees Now Kelly Oliver, Lisa M. Madura, Sabeen Ahmed, 2019-04-03 This important new book examines the status of refugees from a philosophical perspective The contributors explore the conditions faced by refugees and clarify the conceptual practical and ethical issues confronting the contemporary global community with respect to refugees The book takes up topics ranging from practical matters such as the social and political production of refugees refugee status and the tension between citizen rights and human rights and the handling of detention and deportation to more conceptual and theoretical concerns such as the ideology rhetoric and propaganda that sustain systems of exclusion and expulsion to the ethical dimensions that invoke hospitality and transnational responsibility Ideal for students and scholars in Political and Social Philosophy and Migration Studies more broadly the book provides a critical commentary on material responses to contemporary refugee crises as a means of opening pathways to more pointed assessments of both the political and ideological underpinnings of statelessness

Africa since Decolonization Martin Welz, 2021-01-21 Home to more than 1.2 billion people living in 54 recognized states speaking around 3 000 languages Africa is a diverse and complex continent made up of states which differ in regard to their colonial history political system socio economic development economic policies and their experience with crises and conflicts This introduction and overview of African history and politics since decolonization emphasises throughout the diversity of the continent Organised thematically to include chapters on decolonization and its legacies external influences economics political systems inter African relations crises conflicts and conflict management and Africa's external relations Martin Welz strikes a fine balance between the use of contextual information analysis case studies and examples with theoretical debates in development politics and global policy Accessible to students at all levels it counters histories which offer reductive explanations of complex issues and offers new insights into the role African actors have played in influencing international affairs beyond the continent

We Wait for a Miracle Muhammad H. Zaman, 2023-11-07 The story of how we treat refugees is a story about our own moral failings and the barriers that refugees face in accessing health care can be as difficult to overcome as any other adversity in their path to stability Around the world millions are forcibly displaced by conflict climate change and persecution Some cross international borders while others are displaced within their own countries In We Wait for a Miracle Muhammad H Zaman shares poignant stories across continents to highlight the health care experiences of refugees and forced migrants For many of these people health risks unfortunately become part of the fabric of everyday life as they navigate new countries that treat them with varying degrees of care and indifference Across widely varied local systems countries of origin health concerns and other contexts Zaman finds that barriers to health care share these key factors trust social network efficiency of the health system and the regulatory framework of the host environment A combination of these factors explains difficulties in accessing health care across the geographic and geopolitical spectrum and challenges the existing global public health framework which is based entirely on local context In moving stories that span seven countries Sudan South Sudan Uganda Zimbabwe Pakistan Colombia and Venezuela Zaman shares the everyday struggles of refugees the internally displaced and the stateless in accessing the health care they need This unique look at an urgent global challenge addresses the issue of access for populations that are currently in distress due to civil war economic collapse or a conflict driven by external state actors Organic social networks and trust rather than top down policies are often what save the lives of migrants refugees and the stateless Focusing on that trust and its deficit in camps urban slums hospitals and clinics Zaman combines personal and journalistic accounts of refugees with broad systemic analysis on global health care access to compare problems and solutions in different regions and provide holistic policy and practice recommendations for refugees internally displaced persons and stateless populations Home Now Cynthia Anderson, 2019-10-29 A moving chronicle of who belongs in America Like so many American factory towns Lewiston Maine thrived until its mill jobs disappeared and the young began leaving But then the story unexpectedly veered over the course of fifteen years the city became home to thousands of African immigrants and along the way turned into one of the most Muslim towns in the US Now about 6 000 of Lewiston's 36 000 inhabitants are refugees and asylum seekers many of them Somali Cynthia Anderson tells the story of this fractious yet resilient city near where she grew up offering the unfolding drama of a community's reinvention and humanizing some of the defining political issues in America today In Lewiston progress is real but precarious Anderson takes the reader deep into the lives of both immigrants and lifelong Mainers a single Muslim mom an anti Islamist activist a Congolese asylum seeker a Somali community leader Their lives unfold in these pages as anti immigrant sentiment rises across the US and national realities collide with those in Lewiston Home Now gives a poignant account of America's evolving relationship with religion and race and makes a sensitive yet powerful case for embracing change
