American Crusade David J. Endres, 2010-08-04 Perhaps no era in Christian history since the time of the apostles presented a greater challenge to the spread of faith than the twentieth century The First World War in particular resulted in nearly disastrous losses for the world mission movement Christian countries were engaged in fratricidal conflict missionaries were forced to return to their homelands and traditional sources of mission funding dried up In response to the missions crisis American Catholic youth devoted themselves to a program of prayer study and sacrifice the Catholic Students Mission Crusade Beginning with less than fifty members the movement grew to over one million youth and worked to foster support for missionaries in the field promote missionary vocations and educate youth about the needs of the church throughout the world In the course of their crusade the movement's youth were exposed to the complexities and challenges of diverse religious political and cultural worlds including illiteracy in rural America communism in China and Eastern Europe and famine and disease in sub-Saharan Africa In light of this experience as well as the Second Vatican Council's reformulation of the Catholic Church's approach to missions by the late 1960s the movement began to question its goal of converting the world leading to the Crusade's crisis of faith and eventually to its disbanding. By exploring the fascinating story of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade, this study offers new insights into the growth of the church amidst contemporary obstacles and historically non-Christian cultures, providing a bridge to understanding the current challenges to Christian globalization.

Orthodoxy and the Roman Papacy Adam A. J. DeVille, 2011-03-15 Among the issues that continue to divide the Catholic Church from the Orthodox Church, the two largest Christian bodies in the world together comprising well over a billion faithful, the question of the papacy is widely acknowledged to be the most significant stumbling block to their unification. For nearly forty years, commentators, theologians, and hierarchs from popes and patriarchs to ordinary believers of both churches have acknowledged the problems posed by the papacy. In Orthodoxy and the Roman Papacy: Ut Unum Sint and the Prospects of East-West Unity, Adam A. J. DeVille offers the first comprehensive examination of the papacy from an Orthodox perspective that also seeks to find a way beyond this impasse toward full Orthodox-Catholic unity. He first surveys the major postwar Orthodox and Catholic theological perspectives on the Roman papacy and on patriarchates, enumerating Orthodox problems with the papacy and reviewing how Orthodox patriarchates function and are structured. In response to Pope John Paul II's 1995 request for a dialogue on Christian unity set forth in the encyclical letter Ut Unum Sint, DeVille proposes a new model for the exercise of papal primacy. DeVille suggests the establishment of a permanent ecumenical synod consisting of all the patriarchal heads of Churches under a papal presidency and discusses how the pope, qua pope, would function in a reunited Church of both East and West in full communion. His analysis, involving the most detailed plan for Orthodox-Catholic unity yet offered by an Orthodox theologian, could not be more timely.

Changing the Church Mark D. Chapman, Vladimir Latinovic, 2020-11-13 This volume, dedicated to the memory of Gerard Mannion (1970-2019), former Joseph and Winifred Amato Chair in Catholic Studies at Georgetown University, explores the topic of changing the church from a range of different theological perspectives. The volume's contributors offer answers to questions such as: What needs to be changed in the universal church and in the particular denominations? How has change influenced the life of the church? What are the dangers that change brings with it? What awaits the church if it refuses to change? Many of the essays focus on people who have changed the church significantly and on events that have catalyzed change for the better or for the worse. Some also present visions of change for particular Christian denominations, whether over the ordination of women, different approaches to sexuality, reform of the magisterium, and many other issues related to change.
