China Environment Development Review Globalization:

Globalization and Environmental Reform Arthur P. J. Mol, 2003 A balanced look at globalization and its potential environmental effects both destructive and beneficial

China Environment and Development Review China's Environment and Development in the Era of Globalization Zhang Xiao, 2015-11-30 This book focuses on climate change and China as well as international trade and China's environmental issues It investigates the impact of globalization on sustainable development As a new public issue climate change has placed the whole world in two dilemmas commercial rationality dominating our world cannot resolve such dilemmas therefore greater wisdom is desperately needed e g establishing new civilized norms and value system The relationship between trade and poverty is discussed and further effects of globalization on worldwide both environment and natural resource usage are analyzed by those quantitative analysis methods The consequence of globalization is not only economic and income growth in some countries but also ecological and social imbalance between countries e g poverty High lighting the fragility of the ecological environment and needy groups How to understand and address the impacts of trade on China's resource consumption and environment Is the he questions that this book intends to answer 1 There was never a book in English on China's environment and development under globalization background 2 The book is exclusively concerned with the social imbalance e g poverty in consequence of globalization 3 More quantitative analysis methods are employed and more international comparisons are used in the book

Endeavoring for China's Environment and Development Transformation Yingmin Zhao, Arthur Hanson, 2023-11-23 This is an open access book CCICED has been woven into the fabric of China's environmental development for the past 30 years the length of an entire generation It is also consistent with the most rapid modernization shift of the nation's economy environment relationship This report provides insights into how CCICED operates and its success stories It also presents a general picture of how changes of China in environmental development have taken place CCICED at 30 is therefore a helpful account for future directions of sustainable environment

Chinese Research Perspectives on the Environment, Special Volume Xiao Zhang, 2020-09-25 This volume of the Chinese Research Perspectives on the Environment series is a translation of Environmental Security in China which features contributions from top researchers from Chinese universities including the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences The ten articles following the introduction cover a range of environmental issues in four large categories with significant security implications pollution ecosystem deterioration food and energy supply In addition to long standing environmental problems such as air water and soil pollution and grassland degradation genetically modified GM foods climate change and China's energy dependence which have taken on increasing urgency in recent years are also discussed Each chapter includes conceptual clarifications historical overview empirical analysis case studies international comparisons and policy recommendations

Global Warming and China's Environmental Diplomacy Hongyuan Yu, 2008 Since the early 1990s there are two increasingly hot topics attracting numerous scholarly attentions in

Chinese politics first it is the transformation of China's political system Second it is China's increasingly involvement in international regimes Nevertheless until now there are only a few scholars to work out the distinctive relations between them and even less people work on the bureaucratic politics level By explaining and evaluating the development of policymaking coordination in the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change UNFCCC the author demonstrates the argument that international regimes have contributed to the development of coordination in Chinese Policymaking taking the UNFCCC as a departure

The Globalization of Energy Mehdi Parvizi Amineh, Yang Guang, 2010-01-01 Energy security challenges are topping the policy agenda of the European Union and China Consequently policy makers of both energy import dependent polities continue to look for new responses But will these new policies put EU China relations in a cooperative or competitive setting

Globalizing Regional Development in East Asia Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2013-09-13 Significant historical and geographical differences account for the many processes and trajectories of regional development in East Asia These historical and geographical specificities in East Asia have prompted serious re examination of existing theories in regional development and in particular the new regionalism approach associated with such ideas as the learning region institutional thickness relational assets and regional innovation system This book brings together a group of leading researchers specializing in local and regional development in East Asian economies Through in depth empirical studies of specific regions and localities these authors offer fresh and innovative perspectives on how regions evolve and develop over time in the world's most dynamic macro regional economy In particular their work points to the critical importance of local and trans local processes in shaping regional development trajectories The book is timely given that the debate on the nature and dynamics of regional development in both academic and policy circles has now moved on From the earlier focus on endogenous regional assets such as localized networks of association and trust scholars and policymakers are now analyzing the complex relationship between economic globalization and regional change This high calibre collection makes a significant contribution to the literature on local and regional development in Asia and provides an important resource for researchers students and policy makers interested in East Asia This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies

Routledge Handbook on Global China Maximilian Mayer, Emilian Kavalski, Marina Rudyak, Xin Zhang, 2024-10-22 This innovative Routledge Handbook sheds light on the complex and transformative nature of Global China prompting a re evaluation of existing theories on global and regional dynamics It encourages theoretical innovation methodological reflection and analytical transformation providing new avenues for critical engagement with China's global interactions The chapters propose three key commitments for the study of Global China Advocating for diverse viewpoints and non binary frameworks employing nuanced analysis to understand Beijing's transnational relations and utilizing alternative methodological approaches to explore different trajectories for China in international affairs The Handbook also identifies and avoids epistemic traps that hinder the understanding of Global China such as othering and strategic narcissism It suggests five analytical frameworks related to relationality global capitalist processes language and discourse power planetary scale modernization and experimentalism to guide future research By adopting these frameworks researchers can gain a deeper understanding of the multifaceted factors shaping Global China within the broader global context of cooperation competition and crisis Introduction Chapter 21 and Epilogue of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Globalization, Environmental Law, and Sustainable Development in the Global South Kirk W. Junker, Paolo Davide Farah, 2021-11-29 This volume examines the impact of globalization on international environmental law and the implementation of sustainable development in the Global South Comprising contributions from lawyers from the Global South or who have experience in the Global South this volume is organized into three parts with a thematic inquiry woven through every chapter to ask how law can enable economies that can be sustained given the limited carrying capacity of the earth Part I describes and characterizes the status quo of environmental and economic problems in the Global South during the process of globalization Some of those problems include redistribution of environmental burden on the public through over reliance on the state in emerging economies and the transition to public private partnerships as well as extreme uncontrolled economic expansion Building on Part I Part II takes an international perspective by presenting some tools that are in place during the process of globalization that lead to friction and interfaces between developed and developing economies in environmental law Recognizing the impossibility of a globalized Northern economy the authors in Part III present some alternatives through framework ideas of human and civil rights environmental rights and indigenous persons rights as well as concrete and specific legal tools to strengthen justice and rule of law institutions The book gives new perspectives to familiar approaches through concrete examples by professional practitioners and theoretical discourse by academic researchers and can thereby form the basis for changes in practices as well as further discussions and comparisons This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of environmental law sustainable development and globalization and international relations as well as legal professionals and practitioners

Globalization of Low-Carbon Technologies Venkatachalam Anbumozhi, Kaliappa Kalirajan, 2017-10-30 This book explores the opportunities and barriers within the Intended Nationally Determined Contributions (INDC) framework of the Paris Agreement for low carbon technology diffusion Further it proposes appropriate and feasible mechanisms required at local national and regional levels to achieve the INDC targets The book employs both meta policy analysis and scenario building to examine whether the diffusion of low carbon energy future by 2030 is economically viable under the INDC framework and how international technology cooperation could accelerate investments on the scale required for achieving the INDC targets Further this book provides new perspectives on market and non market mechanisms for the globalization of low carbon technologies within the framework conditions of the Paris Agreement which will be of significant value to senior policy makers multi disciplinary academia and investing
