Digital Culture Society Issue Material:

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Anna Näslund, Karin Hansson, Ramón Reichert, Amanda Wasielewski, 2021-05-31 The design and use of metadata is always culturally socially and ideologically inflected The actors whether these are institutions museums archives libraries corporate image suppliers or individuals image producers social media agents researchers as well as their agendas and interests affect the character of metadata There is a politics of metadata This issue of Digital Culture Society addresses the ideological and political aspects of metadata practices within image collections from an interdisciplinary perspective The overall aim is to consider the implications tensions and challenges involved in the creation of metadata in terms of content structure searchability and diversity Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Ramón Reichert, Annika Richterich, Pablo Abend, Mathias Fuchs, Karin Wenz, 2016-12-15 Digital Culture Society is a refereed international journal fostering discussion about the ways in which digital technologies platforms and applications reconfigure daily lives and practices It offers a forum for critical analysis and inquiries into digital media theory and provides a publication environment for interdisciplinary research approaches contemporary theory developments and methodological innovation The third issue Politics of Big Data edited by Mark Cot Paolo Gerbaudo and Jennifer Pybus critically examines the political and economic dimensions of Big Data and thus details its contestation The contributions focus on the materialities and processes which manifest Big Data and explore forms of value beyond the state and capital These range from open data initiatives social media metrics machine learning algorithms data visualisation to data dashboards critical data analysis and new modes of data action research and practice Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Annika Richterich, Karin Wenz, Pablo Abend, Mathias Fuchs, Ramón Reichert, 2017-06-15 Digital Culture Society is a refereed international journal fostering discussion about the ways in which digital technologies platforms and applications reconfigure daily lives and practices It offers a forum for inquiries into digital media theory methodologies and socio technological developments The fourth issue Making and Hacking sheds light on the communities and spaces of hackers makers DIY enthusiasts and fabbers Academics artists and hackerspace members examine the meanings and entanglements of maker and hacker cultures from conceptual methodological as well as empirical perspectives With contributions by Sabine Hielscher Jeremy Hunsinger Kat Braybrooke Tim Jordan among others and an interview with Sebastian Kubitschko Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Marcus Burkhardt, Jonathan Kropf, Carsten Ochs, Tatjana Seitz, 2025-02-08 With the proliferation of smart devices such as smartphones smart watches and smart speakers as well as the ongoing push toward smart cities humans technologies and environments have become entangled in increasingly complex yet seemingly frictionless infrastructures of datafication and computation A seemingly frictionless user experience however conceals the contradictions power asymmetries and polarisations that shape our digital cultures This issue of Digital Culture Society takes the notion of frictions as a starting point for a situated analysis of our digital present Frictions are sites where criticism is sparked value conflicts are negotiated and design alternatives are explored By bringing together research from media studies science and technology studies STS and sociology this issue begins to synthesise and systematise the structural inconsistencies that frictions expose Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Cindy Kohtala,Yana Boeva,Peter Troxler,2021-02-26 As DIY digital maker culture proliferates globally research on these practices is also maturing Still particular terminologies dominate beyond their Western contexts and technocultural histories of making are often rendered as over simplified technomyths that render invisible diverse local practices This special issue brings together contributions that highlight how historicising plays a role in mythmaking and the creation of social imaginaries The peer reviewed articles present cultural historical perspectives technology and design histories and historiographies and alternative histories related to postcolonial resistance The contributions illustrate the relevance of craft to making as a reparative practice after the Salvadoran Civil War and as a leisure activity to spark innovation in mid century corporate culture the political economic background to the diffusion and differentiation of community workshops in contemporary Spain and post war Germany and the various aesthetics and politics of technology culture manifestos over the years The issue features an interview with Peter Harper of the Alternative Technology movement by Simon Sadler as well as an interview with Felix Holm and Sun Stassen on the antecedents of making and design in South Africa The special issue is rounded off with six short alternative hi stories of DIY making including multiple practices geographies and temporalities

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Tim Hector,David Waldecker,Niklas Strüver,Tanja Aal,2023-09-01 Modern mundane life is brimming with a variety of data driven technologies that are supposed to augment the practices they are involved in As humans bring these technologies into their lives in a process of domestication they tame them and are simultaneously influenced by their presence In combining domestication research and an empirical analysis of current digital and interconnected media this issue examines the process of taming with an emphasis on practices The contributions in this issue explore the use of digitally connected media such as vacuum robots smart speakers drones and kitchen appliances with reference to the domestication paradigm from interdisciplinary perspectives including media studies sociology anthropology and human computer interaction

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Pablo Abend,Annika Richterich,Mathias Fuchs,Ramón Reichert,Karin Wenz,2019-11-26 Digital Culture Society is a refereed international journal fostering discussion about the ways in which digital technologies platforms and applications reconfigure daily lives and practices It offers a forum for inquiries into digital media theory methodologies and socio technological developments This issue presents empirical studies as well as theoretical and methodological reflections on inequalities and divides in digital cultures From various inter disciplinary perspectives the authors examine three main themes inequality of access inequality by design and discursive divides and inequality by algorithms while suggesting ways for research to move beyond these

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Julia Ramírez-Blanco,Ramón Reichert,Francesco Spampinato,2023-05-09 Code is intended both as a computer based language to program software and as a functional and visual language for organizing administrative processes visualizing information performing behaviour control and reinforcing shared imaginaries based on surveillance and dread This special issue of Digital Culture Society deals with the concept of code in relation to the Covid 19 crisis The contributions depart from the idea that both forms of coding have become dramatically intertwined during the pandemic and are structuring a new way of being in and seeing reality They explore the new forms of data driven surveillance and representation of the pandemic evolution at the level of real time epidemiology sensor technologies science policies push media and the heterogeneous counter discourses that try to subvert them

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Mathias Fuchs,Karin Wenz,2023-08-04 What happened to the 1960s ideas of machine art cybernetic art algorithmic revolution and the hopes for a democratization of the art market How do contemporary art practitioners cope with the political situation and with the attempts of the Silicon Valley giants to appropriate algorithmic generation of art like artefacts This issue aims to discuss how the early concept of computer art is now being reframed as digital post digital or algorithmic art under the prevailing conditions of big data smart AI an almost all encompassing surveillance technology and the political state of neo liberalism

Digital Culture & Society (DCS) Olga Moskatova,Anna Polze,Ramón Reichert,2022-08-01 Capturing personal data in exchange for free services is now ubiquitous in networked media and recently led to diagnoses of surveillance and platform capitalism In social media discourse dataveillance and data mining have been criticized as new forms of capitalist exploitation for some time From social photos selfies and image communities on the internet to connected viewing and streaming and video conferencing during the Corona pandemic the digital image is not only predominantly networked but also accessed through platforms and structured by their economic imperatives data acquisition techniques and algorithmic processing In this issue the contributors show how participation and commodification are closely linked to the production circulation consumption and operativity of images and visual communication raising the question of the role networked images play for and within the proliferating surveillance capitalism
