Case Studies In Contracting And Organization:

Case Studies in Contracting and Organization Scott E. Masten, 1996 Case Studies in Contracting and Organization is an edited collection of empirical studies from the transaction cost economics literature on contracting and organization Derived from the work of Ronald Coase 1991 winner of the Nobel Prize in Economics Oliver Williamson and other transaction cost economists the studies explore such fundamental organizational issues as the role of reputation the purpose and limitations of contracts the nature and boundaries of the firm and the evolution and role of hybrid organizational forms such as franchising leasing and joint ventures Industries covered include aerospace automotive electric power generation fast food natural gas ocean shipping petroleum coke refining rail transportation soft drink distribution shoe manufacturing and tuna processing An introductory chapter provides an overview of transaction cost reasoning and a summary of each study's contributions to our understanding of the problem of economic organization The relatively nontechnical nature of the readings makes the book accessible to business and law students as well as advanced undergraduate and graduate students of economics

Management of Agri-Business Contracts & Organizations Samar K. Dutta, 2014-06-18 This study not only demonstrates application of modern organization management tools in agri business operations around credit but also provides important clues toward improving performance of credit in this country

The Contracting Organization Simon Domberger, 1998-11-19 When should organizations contract out services traditionally produced in house Is outsourcing another ephemeral management fad or is it an efficient and effective means of delivering services and of adding value What are the characteristics of strategically sound contracting decisions and how can organizations prosper from the outsourcing revolution These questions are among those tackled by Simon Domberger Based on over a decade of research and consulting experience its conclusions have many practical implications The book develops an analytical decision making framework for the assessment of contracting options and has relevance in both the private and public sectors Containing a wealth of illustrations and over 25 case studies the coverage is fully international Over 50 companies and public sector organizations are discussed including well known names such as Microsoft BP Marks Spencer and Samsung This book will be valuable to all those seeking a better understanding of the outsourcing phenomenon and useful to managers strategists management and business consultants public sector administrators policy makers as well as to students of economics business management and public administration

very creatively combines three rich streams of research dealing with economic exchanges and in doing so provides readers with new and important insights on trust contracts and inter organizational relationships IORs This is cross disciplinary research at its best Focusing on the independent and interdependent roles of contracts and trust in value creation and in value capture in IORs Vlaar relies on solid quantitative and qualitative data to support his arguments This book is must reading for scholars managers and policy makers who are interested in these topics Peter Smith Ring Loyola Marymount

University of Pennsylvania's Contracts and Trust in Alliances is one of the most creative contributions to the alliance literature in a very long time. Vlaar's discussion is informed by an unusually deep knowledge of the literature and significantly pushes the research frontier by examining non-standard but crucial issues, notably how mutual understanding and recognition are preconditions for value discovery and creation. Nicolai Juul Foss, Copenhagen Business School, Denmark. Paul Vlaar contends that strategic alliances and other forms of cooperation, such as buyer-supplier relationships, joint ventures, and offshoring initiatives, increasingly stand at the basis of competitive advantage. Although contracts and trust play a crucial role in such relationships, prior studies on both governance solutions are generally confined to single theories, paradigms, and viewpoints. Drawing on an in-depth case study, survey data, and conceptual developments, the author advances a more integrative framework. He probes issues such as the tension between the need and the ability to contract, trust, and contracts as co-evolving and self-reinforcing phenomena, contractual functions other than coordination and control, dialectical tensions stemming from contract application, standardization of contracting practices. By exploring these topics, the book offers novel perspectives on the role of trust in interorganizational relationships, shifting our attention and creation to the discovery of value by collaborating partners. The book offers novel perspectives on the role of contracts and trust in interorganizational relationships, shifting our attention from the creation and appropriation to the discovery of value by collaborating partners. The book will be useful for managers as well as practitioners interested in the governance and management of interorganizational relationships. It will also be an important resource for academics and students interested in strategy, organization, and organizational theory. Compendium of HHS Evaluations and Relevant Other Studies, 1990

Proceedings of the 18th International Symposium on Advancement of Construction Management and Real Estate Donglang Yang, Yanjun Qian, 2014-05-21. The Chinese Research Institute of Construction Management (CRIOCM) in collaboration with Xi'an Jiaotong University proudly invites all academics, researchers, and professionals to participate in the CRIOCM 2013 the 18th International Symposium on Advancement of Construction Management and Real Estate. We will uphold and preserve the idea and tradition of pragmatism and innovation to offer an excellent academic and communication platform for academics and professionals to exchange information on the latest developments in real estate and construction management. The Soft Power of Construction Contracting Organisations Sai On Cheung, Peter Shek Pui Wong, Tak Wing Yiu, 2015-01-09. Across the AEC industry, the non-technical skills possessed by organisations are key to their overall performance. In this study, the particular importance of optimising the so-called soft power of organisations is addressed. Things like organisational culture, responsible corporate behaviour, and building trust-based relationships with other stakeholders are seen as facets of a broader organisational capability, and the advantages of this strength are also explored. The internationally conducted research behind this book will provide readers with new insights into effective management from both inter- and intra-organisational perspectives. This unique and important book is essential reading for researchers and advanced students of construction management
