Madjalah ilmu alam untuk Indonesia ,1896 Ecology of Java & Bali Anthony J. Whitten,Roehayat Emon Soeriaatmadja,2013-02-05 The Ecology of Java and Bali is a comprehensive ecological survey of two of the most ecologically diverse islands in the Pacific It also contains the results of original research interviews and personal experience It will be useful to resource managers ecologists and government planners as well as to all others interested in the region Java and Bali are the best known of all the islands in the Indonesian archipelago Nowhere else in the country are ecological issues of such importance and nowhere else is there a better chance of the major development problems being solved This is because Java has the greatest concentration of development projects the densest population excellent human resources and the interest of many of the most powerful decision makers Bali meanwhile has the eyes of the world on it as an important tourist destination enjoyed by both domestic and foreign visitors Unveiling Indonesia Library of Congress,1996 Kamus Belanda-Indonesia S. Moeimam,H. Steinhauer,2021-11-15 Madjalah ilmu alam untuk Indonesia ,1955 A New Course of English for Schools in Indonesia Ch. J. M. Rottier,H. J. van der Meer,1946 Life After Logging E. Meijaard,Douglas Sheil,Robert Nasi,David Augeri,Barry Rosenbaum,Djoko Iskandar,Titiek Setyawati,Martjan Lammertink,Ike Rachmatika,Anna Wong,Tonny Soehartono,Scott Stanley,Timothy O'Brien,2005-01-01 This book presents a technical review of ecological and life history information on a range of Bornean wildlife species aimed at identifying what makes these species sensitive to timber harvesting practices and associated impacts It addresses three audiences 1 those involved in assessing and regulating timber harvesting activities in Southeast Asia 2 those involved in trying to achieve conservation goals in the region and 3 those undertaking research to improve multipurpose forest management This book shows that forest management can be improved in many simple ways to allow timber extraction and wildlife conservation to be more compatible than under current practices The recommendations can also be valuable to the many governmental and non governmental organisations promoting sustainable forest management and eco labelling Finally it identifies a number of shortcomings and gaps in knowledge which the hope can interest the scientific community and promote further research This review is an important scientific step toward understanding and improving sustainable forestry practices for long term biodiversity conservation Even in the short term however significant improvements can be made to improve both conservation and the efficiency of forest management and there is no need to delay action due to a perceived lack of information In the longer term it is expected that the recommendations from this review will be implemented and that further research will continue to help foster an acceptable balance among the choices needed to maintain healthy wildlife populations and biodiversity in a productive forest estate High Altitude Primates Nanda B. Grow,Sharon Gursky-Doyen,Alicia Krzton,2013-11-19 The basic goal of the volume is to compile the most up to date research on how high altitude affects the behavior ecology evolution and conservation status of primates especially in comparison to lowland populations Historically the majority of primate studies have focused on lowland populations However as the lowlands have been disappearing more and more primatologists have begun studying populations located in higher altitudes High altitude populations are important not only because of their uniqueness but also because they highlight the range of primate adaptability and the complex variables that are involved in primate evolution These populations are good examples of how geographic scales result in diversification and or speciation Yet there have been very few papers addressing how this high altitude environment affects the behavior ecology and conservation status of these primates Tan Malaka: strijder voor
