China Briefing Jay D. White, 2016 Cover Half Title Title Copyright Contents Preface Map Introduction Historical Echoes and Chinese Politics Can China Leave the Twentieth Century Behind The Chinese Economy Fifty Years into the Transformation Power Patronage and Protest in Rural China The Shape of Society The Changing Demography of Development Promises and Pitfalls of Reform New Thinking in Post Deng China The Politics of Consumerism in Chinese Society Gender and Nationalism in China at the Turn of the Millennium Dangerous Liaisons China Taiwan Hong Kong and the United States at the Turn of the Century The More Things Change The More They Remain the Same The World the United States and the People's Republic of China 1949 1999 Chronology 1997 1999 Historical Chronology of the Twentieth Century Glossary Suggestions for Further Readings About the Contributors Index China Briefing Jay D White, William A. Joseph, 2016-09-16 The chapters in this latest edition of China Briefing reflect broadly on China's transformation in the twentieth century The authors not only examine developments in China over the 1997 1999 period but also place these events in a wider historical perspective by addressing the following questions Where has China traveled over the course of the century To what extent has it been transformed and how What are the enduring themes or points of continuity even during a century of great change and transformation And what are China's prospects for the future China Briefing 2000 Tyrene White, 2000 Reflections on China's 20th century transformation Contributors explore developments over the 1997 1999 period and place them in a wider historical perspective by examining where China has travelled what has changed and how much the century's enduring themes and prospects for the future The chapters in this latest edition of China Briefing reflect broadly on China's transformation in the twentieth century The authors not only examine developments in China over the 1997 1999 period but also place these events in a wider historical perspective by addressing the following questions Where has China traveled over the course of the century To what extent has it been transformed and how What are the enduring themes or points of continuity even during a century of great change and transformation And what are China's prospects for the future China's Leaders Cheng Li, 2001-02-28 Who will govern China at the dawn of the twenty first century What are the social backgrounds and career paths of the new generation of leaders How do they differ from their predecessors in their responses to perplexing economic and sociopolitical challenges Drawing upon a wealth of both quantitative and qualitative data on the so called fourth generation of leaders those who were young during the Cultural Revolution Cheng Li sheds valuable light on these key questions He shows that this group is more diversified than previous generations of CCP leaders in formative experiences political solidarity ideological conviction and occupational background The author explores the contradictions between political leaders and non elite peers in the same generation those approaching middle age who were barred from education during the Mao era and now often are unemployed and disenchanted with the government The book concludes with the intriguing notion that this generation of leaders may have a better understanding of its peers needs and concerns and therefore may make the regime more accountable to its people thus contributing to rather than opposing democratic development

Problems of Post-communism, 2001 The Subject in Crisis in Contemporary Chinese Literature Rong Cai, 2004-05-31 Post Mao China produced two parallel discourses on the human subject in the New Era 1976-1989. One was an autonomous Enlightenment humanist self aimed at replacing the revolutionary paragon that had dominated under Mao. The other was a more problematic subject suffering from either a symbolic physical deformity or some kind of spiritual paralysis that undermines its apparent normalcy. How do we explain the stubborn presence in the literature of the 1980s and 1990s of this crippled agent who fails to realize the humanist autonomy envisioned by post Mao theorists? What are the anxieties and tensions embedded in this incongruity and what do they reveal? This illuminating and original critical study of the crippled subject in post Mao literature offers a detailed textual analysis of the work of five well known contemporary writers: Han Shaogong, Can Xue, Yu Hua, Mo Yan, and Jia Pingwa. The author investigates not only the literary characters within the texts but also their creators' real subjects in history: Chinese writers whose own agency was being tested and established in the search for a new subjectivity. She argues that reenacting the Maoist legacy, the literary search failed to provide a viable model for a postrevolutionary China. In addition, the deficiency and inadequacy of the subject cannot always be contained in the Communist past, a history to be transcended in the design of modernity after Mao. The representation of the problematic subject thus punctured post Mao optimism and foreshadowed the eventual abandonment of the move to rethink subjectivity in the 1990s. By diving beneath the euphoria of the 1980s and the confusion and frustration of the 1990s, these critical readings offer a unique perspective with which to gauge the complexity of China's quest for modernity and a fuller understanding of the self's multifaceted experience in the post Mao era.

Political Communications in Greater China Gary D. Rawnsley, Ming-Yeh T. Rawnsley, 2003-12-08 This book examines the role played by political communications including media of all kinds, journalism, television, and film in defining and shaping identity in Greater China: China, Hong Kong, Taiwan, and overseas Chinese. In the context of increasing cross border interactions of people, investment, and commercial products between the component parts of greater China, the book explores the idea that identity rather than nation states or political entities may be the key factor in achieving further integration in Greater China. The book focuses on the ways in which identity is communicated and shows how communication of identity within and between the component parts of greater China plays a central role in bringing about integration.

The Commanding Heights Daniel Yergin, Joseph Stanislaw, 2002-06-15 The Commanding Heights is about the most powerful political and economic force in the world today: the epic struggle between government and the marketplace that has over the last twenty years turned the world upside down and dramatically transformed our lives. Now the Pulitzer Prize winning author of The Prize joins with a leading expert on the new marketplace to explain the revolution in ideas that is reshaping the modern world. Written with the same sweeping narrative power that made The Prize an enormous success, The Commanding

Heights provides the historical perspective the global vision and the insight to help us understand the tumult of the past half century Trillions of dollars in assets and fundamental political power are changing hands as free markets wrest control from government of the commanding heights the dominant businesses and industries of the world economy Daniel Yergin and Joseph Stanislaw demonstrate that words like privatization and deregulation are inadequate to describe the enormous upheaval that is unfolding before our eyes Along with the creation of vast new wealth the map of the global economy is being redrawn Indeed the very structure of society is changing New markets and new opportunities have brought great new risks as well How has all this come about Who are the major figures behind it How does it affect our lives The collapse of the Soviet Union the awesome rise of China the awakening of India economic revival in Latin America the march toward the European Union all are a part of this political and economic revolution Fiscal realities and financial markets are relentlessly propelling deregulation achieving a new balance between government and marketplace will be the major political challenge in the coming years Looking back the authors describe how the old balance was overturned and by whom Looking forward they explore these questions Will the new balance prevail Or does the free market contain the seeds of its own destruction Will there be a backlash against any excesses of the free market And finally The Commanding Heights illuminates the five tests by which the success or failure of all these changes can be measured and defines the key issues as we enter the twenty first century The Commanding Heights captures this revolution in ideas in riveting accounts of the history and the politics of the postwar years and compelling tales of the astute politicians brilliant thinkers and tenacious businessmen who brought these changes about Margaret Thatcher Donald Reagan Deng Xiaoping and Bill Clinton share the stage with the Minister of Thought Keith Joseph the broommaker s son Domingo Cavallo and Friedrich von Hayek the Austrian economist who was determined to win the twenty year battle of ideas It is a complex and wide ranging story and the authors tell it brilliantly with a deep understanding of human character making critically important ideas lucid and accessible Written with unique access to many of the key players The Commanding Heights like no other book brings us an understanding of the last half of the twentieth century and sheds a powerful light on what lies ahead in the twenty first century

Women in China's Long Twentieth Century Gail Hershatter, 2007-03-29 This indispensable guide for students of both Chinese and women s history synthesizes recent research on women in twentieth century China Written by a leading historian of China it surveys more than 650 scholarly works discussing Chinese women in the context of marriage family sexuality labor and national modernity In the process Hershatter offers keen analytic insights and judgments about the works themselves and the evolution of related academic fields The result is both a practical bibliographic tool and a thoughtful reflection on how we approach the past
