Law, Technology and Dispute Resolution Riikka Koulu, 2018-09-24 The use of new information and communication technologies both inside the courts and in private online dispute resolution services is quickly changing everyday conflict management However the implications of the increasingly disruptive role of technology in dispute resolution remain largely undiscussed In this book assistant professor of law and digitalisation Riikka Koulu examines the multifaceted phenomenon of dispute resolution technology focusing specifically on private enforcement which modern technology enables on an unforeseen scale The increase in private enforcement confounds legal structures and challenges the nation state's monopoly on violence And in this respect the author argues that the technology driven privatisation of enforcement from direct enforcement of e commerce platforms to self executing smart contracts in the blockchain brings the ethics of law's coercive nature out into the open This development constitutes a new and dangerous grey area of conflict management which calls for transparency and public debate on the ethical implications of dispute resolution technology

Multijuralism Albert Breton, Anne des Ormeaux, Katharina Pistor, Pierre Salmon, 2017-11-28 At one level of generality multijuralism is the coexistence of two or more legal systems or sub systems within a broader normative legal order to which they adhere such as the existence of civil and common law systems within the EU However at a finer level of analysis multijuralism is a more widespread or common phenomenon and a more fluid reality than the civil law common law distinction suggests The papers in this study are therefore rooted in the latter frame of reference They explore various types of multijural manifestations from the harmonizing potential of international treaties to indigenous law and the use of hard and soft pluralism In addition the authors consider the external events which are not part of the processes of multijural adjustment but which serve to influence these processes Included among these important external events are European integration the growing importance accorded to human rights the international practice of law the growth of the Internet the globalization of markets and the
