Caveat Emptor Ken Perenyi, 2022-04-12 It is said that the greatest art forger in the world is the one who has never been caught Caveat Emptor reveals the astonishing story of America's most accomplished art forger Ten years ago an FBI investigation in conjunction with the U S Attorney's Office in the Southern District of New York was about to expose a scandal in the art world that would have been front page news in New York and London After a trail of fake paintings of astonishing quality led federal agents to art dealers renowned experts and the major auction houses the investigation inexplicably ended despite an abundance of evidence collected The case was closed and the FBI file was marked exempt from public disclosure Now that the statute of limitations on these crimes has expired and the case appears hermetically sealed shut by the FBI this book Caveat Emptor is

Martha Buskirk, 2021-04-13 If you have tattoos who owns the rights to the imagery inked on your body What about the photos you just shared on Instagram And what if you are an artist responding to the surrounding landscape of preexisting cultural forms Most people go about their days without thinking much about intellectual property but it shapes all aspects of contemporary life It is a constantly moving target articulated through a web of laws that are different from country to country sometimes contradictory often contested Some protections are necessary not only to benefit creators and inventors but also to support activities that contribute to the culture at large yet overly broad ownership rights stifle innovation Is It Ours takes a fresh look at issues of artistic expression and creative protection as they relate to contemporary law Exploring intellectual property particularly copyrights Martha Buskirk draws connections between current challenges and early debates about how something intangible could be defined as property She examines bonds between artist and artwork including the ways that artists or their heirs retain control over time The text engages with fundamental questions about the interplay between authorship and ownership and the degree to which all expressions and inventions develop in response to innovations by others Most importantly this book argues for the necessity of sustaining a vital cultural commons

The State and the Art Richard Van Herzeele, The role of private actors in policing has become a topic in both research and policy as police forces face budgetary and expertise related constraints These challenges are evident in art crime policing where a lack of prioritisation often means limited resources are allocated for a crime that requires significant expertise to tackle Cooperating with private actors has been mooted as a solution to this deficit but empirical research to support this suggestion is scarce This book helps fill this gap by examining the interaction between specialist art crime police units and private actors in Belgium the United Kingdom and France Its central questions are whether cooperation already exists in art crime policing and why or not It was found that while limits to police capacity are an important driver for private outreach several other factors also significantly affect cooperation This book is relevant for policy practice and research as it examines a hitherto less discussed topic which is nonetheless urgent as art crime shows little signs of abating
