People, Politics, and Child Welfare in British Columbia Leslie T. Foster, Brian Wharf, 2011-11-01 People Politics and Child Welfare in British Columbia traces the evolution of policies and programs intended to protect children in BC from neglect and abuse Analyzing this evolution reveals that child protection policy and practice has reflected the priorities of politicians and public servants in power With few exceptions efforts to establish effective programs have focused on structural arrangements staffing responsibilities and rules to regulate the practice of child welfare workers Contributors to this book conclude that these attempts have been unsuccessful thus far because they have failed to address the impact of poverty on clients The need to respect the cultural traditions and values of First Nations clients has also been ignored Effective services require recognizing and remedying poverty s impact establishing community control over services and developing a radically different approach to the day to day practice of child welfare workers People Politics and Child Welfare in British Columbia provides a crucial assessment of the state of child welfare in the province Practitioners scholars and students in social work child and youth care education and other human service professions will find this book particularly important Creating Positive Systems of Child and Family Welfare Gary Cameron, Marshall Fine, Sarah Maiter, Karen Frensch, Nancy Freymond, 2013-12-31 The North American approach to child protection is broadly accepted despite frequent criticisms of its core limitations parental fear and resistance the limited range of services and supports available to families escalating costs and high stress and turnover among service providers Could these shortcomings be improved through organizational or system reform Based on findings from a decade s worth of research Creating Positive Systems of Child and Family Welfare provides original reflections on the everyday realities of families and front line service providers involved with the system It includes data from a variety of regions and situations all linked together through a common investigatory framework The contributors highlight areas of concern in current approaches to child and family welfare but also propose new solutions that would make the system more welcoming and helpful both for families and for service providers Rutter's Child and Adolescent Psychiatry Anita Thapar, Daniel S. Veronica Strong-Boag, 2011-09-28 Fostering Nation Canada Confronts Its History of Childhood Disadvantage explores the missteps and the promise of a century and more of child protection efforts by Canadians and their governments It is the first volume to offer a comprehensive history of what life has meant for North America s most disadvantaged Aboriginal and newcomer girls and boys Gender class race and dis ability are always important factors that bear on youngsters access to resources State fostering initiatives occur as part of a broad continuum of arrangements from social assistance for original families to kin care and institutions Birth and foster parents of disadvantaged youngsters are rarely in full control Children most distant from the mainstream ideals of their day suffer and that suffering is likely to continue into their own experience of parenthood That trajectory is never inevitable however Both resilience and resistance have shaped Canadians engagement with foster children in a society dominated by capitalist colonial and patriarchal power Fostering Nation breaks much new ground for those interested in social welfare history and the family It offers the first comprehensive perspective on Canada s provision for marginalized youngsters from the nineteenth to the twenty first century Its examination of kin care institutions state policies birth parents foster parents and foster youngsters provides ample reminder that children s welfare cannot be divorced from that of their parents and communities and reinforces what it means when women bear disproportionate responsibility for caregiving
