

Calculating pH

How will it be used for the concentration differences here?

Why?

As buffers and other substances control pH in organisms, it is important to understand the ability of buffers to resist change. This property is called buffering capacity and is usually expressed as millimoles per litre of buffer (mM/L) or as moles per litre of buffer (M/L). The higher the buffering capacity, the more the pH of a solution, before it changes, can move. It is important to understand the buffering capacity of a particular solution.
