Cellular Biophysics Vols 1 And 2:

Introduction to Cellular Biophysics, Volume 2 Armin Kargol, 2019-12-13 All living matter is comprised of cells small compartments isolated from the environment by a cell membrane and filled with concentrated solutions of various organic and inorganic compounds Some organisms are single cell where all life functions are performed by that cell Others have groups of cells or organs specializing in one particular function The survival of the entire organism depends on all of its cells and organs fulfilling their roles While the cells are studied by different sciences they are seen differently by biologists chemists or physicists Biologists concentrate their attention on cell structure and function What the cells consists of Where are its organelles What function each organelle fulfils From a chemists point of view a cell is a complex chemical reaction chamber where various molecules are synthesized or degraded The main question is how these sometimes very complicated chains of reactions are controlled Finally from a physics standpoint some of the fundamental questions are about the physical movement of all these molecules between organelles within the cell their exchange with the extracellular medium as well as electrical phenomena resulting from such transport The aim of this book is to look into the basic physical phenomena occurring in cells These physical transport processes facilitate chemical reactions in the cell and various electrical effects and that in turn leads to biological functions necessary for the cell to satisfy its role in the mother organism Ultimately the goals of every cell are to stay alive and to fulfill its function as a part of a larger organ or organism The first volume of this book is an inventory of physical transport processes occurring in cells while this second volume provides a closer look at how complex biological and physiological cell phenomena result from these very basic physical processes

Introduction to Cellular Biophysics, Volume 1 Armin Kargol, 2019-03-29 All living matter is comprised of cells small compartments isolated from the environment by a cell membrane and filled with concentrated solutions of various organic and inorganic compounds Some organisms are single cell where all life functions are performed by that cell Others have groups of cells or entire organs specializing in one particular function The survival of the entire organism depends on all of its cells and organs fulfilling their roles While the cells are studied by different sciences they are seen differently by biologists chemists or physicists Biologists concentrate their attention on cell structure and function What does the cell consist of Where are its organelles What function does each organelle fulfil From a chemists point of view a cell is a complex chemical reaction chamber where various molecules are synthesized or degraded The main question is how these sometimes very complicated chains of reactions are controlled Finally from a physics standpoint one of the main questions is the physical movement of all these molecules between organelles within the cell as well as their exchange with the extracellular medium The aim of this book is to look into the basic physical phenomena occurring in cells These physical transport processes facilitate chemical reactions in the cell and that in turn leads to the biological functions necessary for the cell to satisfy its role in the mother organism Ultimately the goals of every cell are to stay alive and to fulfil its function as a part of a larger organ or organism

This book is an inventory of physical transport processes occurring in cells while the second volume will be a closer look at how complex biological and physiological cell phenomena result from these very basic physical processes National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.),1993 First multi year cumulation covers six years 1965 70 Focus On Multidimensional Microscopy (In 2 Vols) - Volume 1 Ping-chin Cheng,Pung Pung Hwang,H Kim,G Wang,J L Wu,1999-12-28 This book covers various aspects of modern microscopy with emphasis on multidimensional three dimensional and higher and multimodality microscopy The topics discussed include multiphoton fluorescent microscopy confocal microscopy x ray microscopy and microtomography electron microscopy probe microscopy and multidimensional image processing for microscopy In addition there are chapters demonstrating typical microscopical applications both biological and material Computational Cell Biology Christopher P. Fall,Eric S. Marland,John M. Wagner,John J. Tyson,2007-06-04 This textbook provides an introduction to dynamic modeling in molecular cell biology taking a computational and intuitive approach Detailed illustrations examples and exercises are included throughout the text Appendices containing mathematical and computational techniques are provided as a reference tool Neural Engineering Bin He,2013-01-09 Neural Engineering 2nd Edition contains reviews and discussions of contemporary and relevant topics by leading investigators in the field It is intended to serve as a textbook at the graduate and advanced undergraduate level in a bioengineering curriculum This principles and applications approach to neural engineering is essential reading for all academics biomedical engineers neuroscientists neurophysiologists and industry professionals wishing to take advantage of the latest and greatest in this emerging field List of Serials and Monographs Indexed for Online Users ,1990 Calculus for Cognitive Scientists James Peterson,2016-02-11 This book shows cognitive scientists in training how mathematics computer science and science can be usefully and seamlessly intertwined It is a follow up to the first two volumes on mathematics for cognitive scientists and includes the mathematics and computational tools needed to understand how to compute the terms in the Fourier series expansions that solve the cable equation The latter is derived from first principles by going back to cellular biology and the relevant biophysics A detailed discussion of ion movement through cellular membranes and an explanation of how the equations that govern such ion movement leading to the standard transient cable equation are included There are also solutions for the cable model using separation of variables as well an explanation of why Fourier series converge and a description of the implementation of MatLab tools to compute the solutions Finally the standard Hodgkin Huxley model is developed for an excitable neuron and is solved using MatLab Molecular Driving Forces Ken A. Dill,Sarina Bromberg,2003 This text shows how many complex behaviors of molecules can result from a few simple physical processes A central theme is the idea that simplistic models can give surprisingly accurate insights into the workings of the molecular world Written in a clear and student friendly style the book gives an excellent introduction to the field for novices It should also be useful to those who want to refresh their understanding of this important field and those interested in seeing how physical principles can be applied to the study of problems in the chemical biological and material sciences Furthermore Molecular Driving Forces contains a number of features including 449 carefully produced figures illustrating the subject matter 178 worked examples in the chapters which explain the key concepts and show their practical applications The text is mathematically self contained with mathematical toolkits providing the required maths Advanced material that might not be suitable for some elementary courses is clearly delineated in the text End of chapter references and suggestions for further reading
