Culture And Change In Central European Prehistory:

Culture and Change in Central European Prehistory Helle Vandkilde, 2007 This book is a cohesive overview of Central European prehistory from the introduction of agriculture around 6000 BC to the state forming processes that began to emerge during the first millennium BC A complex mosaic of culture society and processes is mirrored in the material world and in certain periods involves a large part of the Eurasian continent Culture and change must be understood as both localised and macro regional the book is a cultural historical tale inspired by for example the attempts of French historians to integrate different levels of history Emphasis is laid on the eventful boom periods where innovations and cross cultural interaction intensified in such a way that history's mainly reproductive pattern was broken Important turning points are attached among other things to the first production of food copper and bronze metallurgy and the sword as a weapon and symbol These technical innovations were part of a complicated interaction with social and cultural processes which in many cases are connected in a pattern that can be followed in time and space European Prehistory Sarunas

Milisauskas, 2011-08-04 European Prehistory A Survey traces humans from their earliest appearance on the continent to the Rise of the Roman Empire drawing on archaeological research from all over Europe It includes the Paleolithic Mesolithic Neolithic Bronze and Iron Ages Throughout these periods the major developments are explored using a wide range of archaeological data that emphasizes aspects of agricultural practices gender mortuary practices population genetics ritual settlement patterns technology trade and warfare Using new methods and theories recent discoveries and arguments are presented and previous discoveries reevaluated This work includes chapters on European geography and the chronology of European prehistory A new chapter has been added on the historical development of European archaeology The remaining chapters have been contributed by archaeologists specializing in different periods The second edition of European Prehistory A Survey is enhanced by a glossary three indices and a comprehensive bibliography as well as an extensive collection of maps chronological tables and photographs Economy and Society in Prehistoric Europe A. Sherratt, 2019-08-07 This book brings together a classic collection of Andrew Sherratt's work on the economic foundations of prehistoric Europe which have put forward important new ideas about the development of farming pastoralism early technology and trade In a series of contributions that have included wide ranging syntheses and detailed local studies he discusses their implications for the understanding of settlement patterns social structures material culture and less tangible aspects of prehistoric life such as the spread of languages and the use of narcotics Current Approaches to Tells in the Prehistoric Old World Antonio

Blanco-González, Tobias L. Kienlin, 2020-11-30 Deeply stratified settlements are a distinctive site type featuring prominently in diverse later prehistoric landscapes of the Old World Their massive materiality has attracted the curiosity of lay people and archaeologists alike Nowadays a wide variety of archaeological projects are tracking the lifestyles and social practices that led to the building up of such superimposed artificial hills However prehistoric tell dwelling communities are too often approached from narrow local perspectives or discussed within strict time and culture specific debates There is a great potential to learn from such ubiquitous archaeological manifestations as the physical outcome of cross cutting dynamics and comparable underlying forces irrespective of time and space This volume tackles tells and tell like sites as a transversal phenomenon whose commonalities and divergences are poorly understood yet may benefit from cross cultural comparison Thus the book intends to assemble a representative range of ongoing theory and science based fieldwork projects targeting this kind of sites With the aim of encompassing a variety of social and material dynamics the volume s scope is diachronic from the Earliest Neolithic up to the Iron Age and covers a very large region from Iberia in Western Europe to Syria in the Middle East The core of the volume comprises a selection of the most remarkable contributions to the session with a similar title celebrated in the European Association of Archaeologists Annual Meeting held at Barcelona in 2018 In addition the book includes invited chapters to round out underrepresented areas and periods in the EAA session with relevant research programmes in the Old World To accomplish such a cross cultural course the book takes a case based approach with contributions disparate both in their theoretical foundations from household archaeology social agency and formation theory and their research strategies including geophysical survey microarchaeology and high resolution excavation and dating

Case Studies in European Prehistory Peter Bogucki, 2023-05-09 This book provides a broad overview of the current research questions facing archaeologists working in Europe The book uses a case study method in which a number of archaeologists discuss their work and reflect on their goals and approaches The emphasis is on the intellectual process of archaeology not just the techniques and results Chronological coverage is provided from the Mesolithic to the Iron Age and over much of the European continent

Exploring Prehistoric Identity in Europe Victoria Ginn, Rebecca Enlander, Rebecca Crozier, 2014-03-19 Identity is relational and a construct and is expressed in a myriad of ways For example material culture and its pluralist meanings have been readily manipulated by humans in a prehistoric context in order to construct personal and group identities Artefacts were often from or reminiscent of far flung places and were used to demonstrate membership of an imagined regional or European community Earthworks frequently archive maximum visual impact through elaborate ramparts and entrances with the minimum amount of effort indicating that the construction of identities were as much in the eye of the perceiver as of the perceived Variations in domestic architectural style also demonstrate the malleability of identity and the prolonged intermittent use of particular places for specific functions indicates that the identity of place is just as important in our archaeological understanding as the identity of people By using a wide range of case studies both temporally and spatially these thought processes may be explored further and diachronic and geographic patterns in expressions of identity investigated

Tribe and Polity in Late Prehistoric Europe D. Blair Gibson, M.N. Geselowitz, 2013-11-11 During HaA HaB many settlements were established in Silesia and in the central part of Poland and their stability seems to be confirmed by the existence of regional groups and subgroups by long lasting colonies and by long used burial grounds located at large settlements At the end of HaB many pre Scythian elements occurred in this area only partly influenced by the Cimmerians During that period the peoples living north of the Carpathian and Sudeten Mountains remained very dependent on the productive and cultural circle south of the Carpathians with which they maintained strong connections The Lusatian settlement zone apart from its increasing internal stability also tended to extend its range A partition of the Lusatian Culture which had appeared earlier became more pronounced under the strong influence of the East Hallstatt cultural and productive center in the eastern Alpine region and the so called amber route The eastern zone of the Lusatian Culture remained under the influence of the Carpathian center while the western zone was strongly influenced by the pre Celtic Bylanska or Horakowska and northern Illyrian Calons denberian cultures In HaD2 ca 520 500 B C this latter area was the site of an armed incursion of Scythian groups coming from the east through the Karpacka Valley The most characteristic features of the western zone include its own varieties of more general Hallstatt traits such as fortified settlements which date from HaA in the Lusatian Culture production of iron done domestically since HaD and decorated pottery

Exploring Ancient Textiles Alistair Dickey, Margarita Gleba, Sarah Hitchens, Gabriella Longhitano, 2022-07-20 Over the past 30 years research on archaeological textiles has developed into an important field of scientific study It has greatly benefited from interdisciplinary approaches which combine the application of advanced technological knowledge to ethnographic textual and experimental investigations In exploring textiles and textile processing such as production and exchange in ancient societies archaeologists with different types and quality of data have shared their knowledge thus contributing to well established methodology In this book the papers highlight how researchers have been challenged to adapt or modify these traditional and more recently developed analytical methods to enable extraction of comparable data from often recalcitrant assemblages Furthermore they have applied new perspectives and approaches to extend the focus on less investigated aspects and artefacts The chapters embrace a broad geographical and chronological area ranging from South America and Europe to Africa and from the 11th millennium BC to the 1st millennium AD Methodological considerations are explored through the medium of three different themes focusing on tools textiles and fibres and culture and identity This volume constitutes a reflection on the status of current methodology and its applicability within the wider textile field Moreover it drives forward the methodological debates around textile research to generate new and stimulating conversations about the future of textile archaeology

The Routledge Handbook of Archaeology and Globalization Tamar Hodos, 2016-11-18 This unique collection applies globalization concepts to the discipline of archaeology using a wide range of global case studies from a group of international specialists The volume spans from as early as 10 000 cal BP to the modern era analysing the relationship between material culture complex connectivities between communities and groups and cultural change Each contributor considers globalization ideas explicitly to explore the socio cultural connectivities of the past In considering social practices shared between different historic groups and also the expression of their respective identities the papers in this volume illustrate the potential of globalization thinking to bridge the local and global in material culture analysis The Routledge Handbook of Archaeology and Globalization is the first such volume to take a world archaeology approach on a multi period basis in order to bring together the scope of evidence for the significance of material culture in the processes of globalization This work thus also provides a means to understand how material culture can be used to assess the impact of global engagement in our contemporary world As such it will appeal to archaeologists and historians as well as social science researchers interested in the origins of globalization

Tracing the Indo-Europeans

Birgit Anette Olsen, Thomas Olander, Kristian Kristiansen, 2019-08-23 Recent developments in aDNA has reshaped our understanding of later European prehistory and at the same time also opened up for more fruitful collaborations between archaeologists and historical linguists Two revolutionary genetic studies published independently in Nature 2015 showed that prehistoric Europe underwent two successive waves of migration one from Anatolia consistent with the introduction of agriculture and a later influx from the Pontic Caspian steppes which without any reasonable doubt pinpoints the archaeological Yamnaya complex as the cradle of Core Indo European languages Now for the first time when the preliminaries are clear it is possible for the fields of genetics archaeology and historical linguistics to cooperate in a constructive fashion to refine our knowledge of the Indo European homeland migrations society and language For the historical comparative linguists this opens up a wealth of exciting perspectives and new working fields in the intersections between linguistics and neighbouring disciplines for the archaeologists and geneticists on the other hand the linguistic contributions help to endow the material findings with a voice from the past The present selection of papers illustrate the importance of an open interdisciplinary discussion which will gradually help us in our quest of Tracing the Indo Europeans
