Complex Tv The Poetics Of Contemporary Television Storytelling:

Complex TV Jason Mittell, 2015-04-10 A comprehensive and sustained analysis of the development of storytelling for television Over the past two decades new technologies changing viewer practices and the proliferation of genres and channels has transformed American television One of the most notable impacts of these shifts is the emergence of highly complex and elaborate forms of serial narrative resulting in a robust period of formal experimentation and risky programming rarely seen in a medium that is typically viewed as formulaic and convention bound Complex TV offers a sustained analysis of the poetics of television narrative focusing on how storytelling has changed in recent years and how viewers make sense of these innovations Through close analyses of key programs including The Wire Lost Breaking Bad The Sopranos Veronica Mars Curb Your Enthusiasm and Mad Men the book traces the emergence of this narrative mode focusing on issues such as viewer comprehension transmedia storytelling serial authorship character change and cultural evaluation Developing a television specific set of narrative theories Complex TV argues that television is the most vital and important storytelling medium of our time

Contemporary British Television Crime Drama Ruth McElroy, 2016-10-14 Contemporary British Television Crime Drama examines one of the medium's most popular genres and places it within its historical and industrial context The television crime drama has proved itself capable of numerous generic reinventions and continues to enjoy some of the highest viewing figures Crime drama offers audiences stories of right and wrong moral authority asserted and resisted and professionals and criminals doing so in ways that are often highly entertaining innovative and thought provoking In examining the appeal of this highly dynamic genre this volume explores how it responds not only to changing social debates on crime and policing but also to processes of hybridization within the television industry itself Contributors many of whom are leading figures in UK television studies analyse popular series such as Broadchurch Between the Lines Foyle's War Poirot Prime Suspect Sherlock and Wallander Essays examine the main characteristics of television crime drama production including the nature of trans Atlantic franchises and literary and transnational adaptations Adopting a range of feminist historical aesthetic and industrial approaches they offer incisive interrogations that provide readers with a rich understanding of the allure of crime drama to both viewers and commissioners

Cognition, Emotion, and Aesthetics in Contemporary Serial Television Ted Nannicelli, Héctor J. Pérez, 2021-11-25 This book posits an interconnection between the ways in which contemporary television serials cue cognitive operations solicit emotional responses and elicit aesthetic appreciation The chapters explore a number of questions including How do the particularities of form and style in contemporary serial television engage us cognitively emotionally and aesthetically How do they foster cognitive and emotional effects such as feeling suspense anticipation surprise satisfaction and disappointment Why and how do we value some serials while disliking others What is it about the particularities of serial television form and style in conjunction with our common cognitive emotional and aesthetic capacities that accounts for serial television's cognitive socio political and aesthetic value and its current ubiquity in popular culture This book will appeal to postgraduates and scholars working in television studies as well as film studies cognitive media theory media psychology and the philosophy of art century US programming is produced and received in ways that elevate select series above the competition in a saturated market. Contributing authors demonstrate that these shows are positioned and understood as comprising an increasingly recognizable genre characterized by familiar markers of distinction. In contrast to most accounts of elite categorizations of contemporary US television programming that center on HBO and its primary streaming rivals, these essays examine how efforts to imbue series with prestigious or elevated status now permeate the rest of the medium, including network as well as basic and undervalued premium cable channels. Case study chapters focusing on diverse series ranging from widely recognized examples such as The Americans (2013–2018) and The Knick (2014–15) to contested examples like Queen of the South (2016–2021) and How I Met Your Mother (2005–2014) highlight how contributing authors extend conceptions of the genre beyond expected parameters.

The Politics of Serial Television Fiction Sebastian Naumann, 2025-02-08. Fictional TV politics played a pivotal role in the popular imaginaries of the 2010s across cultures. Examining this curious phenomenon, Sebastian Naumann provides a wide-ranging analysis of the rapidly evolving landscape of contemporary political series. Proposing a novel structural model of serial television, he offers an innovative methodological framework for comparative textual analysis that integrates sociocultural, economic, sociotechnical, narratological, and aesthetic perspectives. This study furthermore explores how the changing affordances of nonlinear television impact serial storytelling and identifies key narrative trends and recurring themes in contemporary TV political fiction.

Star Trek and American Television Roberta Pearson, Máire Messenger Davies, 2014-04-18. At the heart of one of the most successful transmedia franchises of all time, Star Trek, lies an initially unsuccessful 1960s television production, Star Trek: The Original Series. In Star Trek and American Television, Pearson and Messenger Davies take their cue from the words of the program's first captain, William Shatner, in an interview with the authors: "It's a television show." In focusing on Star Trek as a television show, the authors argue that the program has to be seen in the context of the changing economic conditions of American television throughout the more than four decades of Star Trek's existence as a transmedia phenomenon that includes several films as well as the various television series. The book is organized into three sections dealing with, firstly, the context of production: the history and economics of Star Trek from the original series (1966–1969) to its final television incarnation in Enterprise (2002–2005). Secondly, it focuses on the interrelationships between different levels of production and production workers, drawing on uniquely original material, including interviews with star captains William Shatner and Sir Patrick Stewart and with production workers ranging from set builders to executive producers, to examine the tensions between commercial constraints and creative autonomy. These interviews were primarily carried out in Hollywood during the making of the film Nemesis (2002) and the first series of Star Trek: Enterprise. Thirdly, the authors employ textual analysis to study the narrative storyworld of the Star Trek television corpus and also to discuss the concept and importance of character in television drama. The book is a deft historical and critical study that is bound to appeal to television and media studies scholars, students, and Star Trek fans the world over. With

Max Sexton, Dominic Lees, 2021-03-25 Seeing It on Television Televisuality in the Contemporary US High end Series investigates new categories of high end drama and explores the appeal of programmes from Netflix Sky Atlantic HBO National Geographic FX and Cinemax An investigation of contemporary US Televisuality provides insight into the appeal of upscale programming beyond facts about its budget high production values and or feature cinematography Rather this book focuses on how the construction of meaning often relies on cultural discourse production histories as well as on tone texture or performance which establishes the locus of engagement and value within the series Max Sexton and Dominic Lees discuss how complex production histories lie behind the rise of the US high end series a form that reflects industrial changes and the renegotiation of formal strategies They reveal how the involvement of many different people in the production process based on new relationships of creative authority complicates our understanding of original content This affects the construction of stylistics and the viewing strategies required by different shows The cultural as well as industrial strategies of recent television drama are explored in The Young Pope The Knick Stranger Things Mars Fargo The Leftovers Boardwalk Empire
